King and Queen At Rehearsal In Abbey Today

Crown Placed on Head of George VI Four Times By Archbishop of Canterbury in Practice Ceremonies

Queen Joins In The Procession

Canadian Press

London, May 4.—King George VI was "crowned" today with neither pomp nor ceremony. In fact, the act of "crowning" was performed four times.

The King paid an unheralded visit to Westminster Abbey to rehearse for his coronation, May 12, and practiced the ritual with the Archbishop of Canterbury for two hours. He wore a coronation robe over his civilian suit.

Queen Elizabeth accompanied him and rehearsed part of the procession. She looked on, however, while the Archbishop and the King practiced the rite which will consecrate the new reign. Her own crowning was not rehearsed.

CROWD CHEERS
Crowds outside the abbey sent up a great cheer as the royal party arrived. The King raised his hat and the Queen bowed in acknowledgement of the ovation. His Majesty wore a black coat and a bowler hat. The Queen was dressed in a two-piece suit of pale beige and a hat of the same color trimmed with small flowers around the brim.

MET BY EARL MARSHAL
Their Majesties were met by the Duke of Norfolk, who as Earl Marshal, is in charge of the coronation arrangements. The procession from the Abbey annex to the chapel was rehearsed, with the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Marquess of Zetland, Viscount Halifax, Earl Stanhope, the Marquess of Londonderry, the Duke of Sutherland and Viscount Swinton also participating.

A large black box, bearing the inscription, "Her Majesty the Queen," was carried in the Abbey shortly before Queen Elizabeth arrived.

Double Drowning At Saanich Inlet

Body of R. Cooper Found at Bamberton; W. Bradley Still Missing; Upturned Canoe Also Found

The body of R. Cooper, believed to have been a victim in a double tragedy at Saanich Inlet last night, was found this morning on the shores of the inlet near Bamberton, according to word received by provincial police.

No trace has yet been found of W. Bradley, a companion of Cooper's who is also believed to have been thrown into the sea when their canoe capsized.

The two men set out from Bamberton in a borrowed canoe, and had not been heard from since.

The discovery of the body of Mr. Cooper was reported early this morning. Constable Bob Ross of the Provincial Police is investigating.

Both men were reported to be employees of the Canadian National Railways. Bradley was a checker and Cooper a deckhand.

Both victims were young, unmarried men. Russell Cooper was twenty years old and his home was in New Westminster. William Bradley recently came west from the prairies.

At the time of the tragedy the young men had borrowed a canoe for a short time to paddle around Saanich Inlet and it is believed the craft became unmanageable when the southwest wind started to blow.

Newark, N.J., May 4.—Dr. Reginald D. Margeson, Boston surgeon, left the Newark airport at 8:22 o'clock this morning E.S.T., for Cleveland, on the first leg of a round-the-world flight by scheduled air lines. He arrived at Cleveland at 10:45 a.m., E.S.T., and left for Chicago fifteen minutes later.

He hopes to be back in the United States in nineteen days, returning on the zepplin Hindenburg.

Dr. Margeson said the trip would cost him about $2,400. His itinerary calls for nine and a half days in the air and nine and a half days on land.

He added: "If an official organ like an organized political party introduces a vote of non-confidence in the Diet then we may consider the matter."

His declarations, in an interview, followed a statement to the Privy

Toronto Star, Despite Premier's Denial, Says Hepburn Invited Conservatives Into Ministry, But No Agreement Resulted

Canadian Press

Toronto, May 4.—The Toronto Daily Star today quoted a source "whose knowledge of the facts and reliability leave The Star without doubt of its accuracy" as saying:

"Mr. Hepburn (Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario) made the proposals to Mr. Rowe (Conservative leader) for a union government for Ontario. It is true also that Mr. Hepburn promised Mr. Rowe the right to name half the members in the cabinet and even the premiership if he really wanted it."

The newspaper quoted this source as saying the proposal was made after the Oshawa strike, that Mr. Rowe telephoned Federal Conservative R. B. Bennett and Senator Arthur Meighen, and that Mr. Bennett advised against acceptance because "there was no crisis, no excuse for it."

ELECTION TALK

The Toronto Evening Telegram, in a dispatch from its Ottawa correspondent, says: "Expectation of a general election in Ontario in the near future was voiced by some federal Liberals today."

The dispatch said the report in Ottawa was that the union "offer" contemplated:

"1. Conservatives to have half the seats in the cabinet.

"2. Conservatives to have half the candidates for the Legislature supported."

Ships Hasten To Remove Women and Children At Bilbao As Attack Grows

Early Wedding For Ex-King Duke of Windsor Greeted By Mrs. Simpson at Chateau in France

Associated Press

St. Jean de Luz, France, May 4.—Refuge for about 10,000 women and children from siege or bombardment in Bilbao was virtually assured today as a fleet of passenger ships made ready to evacuate as many as possible before insurgent guns close the port.

Bilbao's Basque defenders fought a last-ditch fight but insurgent dispatches said General Emilio Mola's troops were swarming into the mountainous region north of Bilbao and that their artillery already commanded the Nervion River, Bilbao's outlet to the Bay of Biscay.

More than 4,000 refugees, many children among them, were listed to sail tonight aboard the 10,000-ton Spanish liner Habana. Arrangements were made to charter another large ship to remove 4,000 more children to England. The ship's identity was kept secret lest it become a prey to insurgent war vessels patrolling the Bay of Biscay.

AID FROM FRANCE

Advices from Bordeaux, France, said several French vessels with a total capacity of 2,000 refugee passengers were being coaled and provisioned for a dash to Bilbao.

The first to leave, the steamer Margaux with room for 500, was expected to clear Bordeaux harbor by midnight tonight. The Calmare and the Chateau Palmer, with space for 1,000 and 500 emigres respectively, were scheduled to leave for Bilbao within twenty-four hours after the Margaux.

Basque commanders reported government soldiers were holding their ground west of Bermeo, a fishing town only about eight miles north of Bilbao.

ITALIAN LOSSES

The Basque government said 3,000 Italian troops in the insurgent army were killed in an assault when they were cut off from their base at Bermeo.

Evacuation of civilians from Bilbao thus far had brought safety only to foreigners, but removal of Spaniards was expected to begin today.

There appeared little likelihood many of the civilians in Bilbao—estimated to number some 350,000 since the insurgent grip tightened on the city—could be taken to foreign havens.

The average of six crop experts' estimates of winter wheat harvest this summer was 652,000,000 bushels, which compared with an average of 655,000,000 a month ago.

Fifty In Vancouver Are Given Jail Term

Magistrate Orders Month's Detention For Former Forestry Camp Workers Who Begged in Streets

Canadian Press

Vancouver, May 4.—Fifty single unemployed men, former workers in British Columbia government forestry camps, were convicted in Vancouver police court today on charges of obstructing police and sentenced by Magistrate Mackenzie Matheson to one month each in the Oakalla Jail.

The men were arrested yesterday when they appeared on downtown streets with tin cans and placards reading "No work. No relief. We're hungry."

Four others were arrested on similar charges today and will appear in court tomorrow. Police said they would arrest all who appeared on the streets begging.

WAS AT SQUAMISH

Henry Morgan, one of those convicted and sentenced today, said he had been a resident of British Columbia for three years and had been in a relief camp at Squamish, B.C., thirty miles north of here on Howe Sound, for two months. He said he had a month's deferred scrip which permitted him to use $4 weekly for his keep.

Another convicted man, C. Buschschert, when asked by the magistrate the names of those who urged him to beg in the street, said he did not know their names and did not see them in the group before the court.

"And you won't," Magistrate Matheson said. "The ones who sent you fellows out are careful to stay out of trouble."

NO "PANHANDLING"

Mayor George Miller, after a conference yesterday with provincial government, police and relief officials, said police would "continue to pick up any men who panhandle in this city."

"Vancouver is not going to become a summer playground for unemployed," the mayor said.

War Evacuation Will Total 10,000

France and Britain plan to transport 5,000, if possible, to France, where authorities have prepared to provide for them temporarily.

Several British freighters which got food into Bilbao last week despite the menace of insurgent guns, still are lying at the Basque port. They might be used to take out refugees, along with three French steamers which are scheduled to leave Bordeaux for Bilbao tonight. The French ships can carry 2,000 persons.

FRANCO CALLS UP YOUTHS

Canadian Press from Havana. — Gen. Francisco Franco today called to the colors all residents of insurgent-held Spain born during the first quarter of 1918. The mobilization order was contained in a decree issued at Burgos.

Heavy firing was reported continuing along the border from an official communiqué released today. The communiqué further stated the advance on Bilbao had been temporarily halted to complete the mop-up of Basque contingents isolated in the rapid insurgent advance of the last three days.

TOWNS BOMBARDED

Reported bombing of the insurgent-held city of Zaragoza was alleged to have killed twenty persons and wounded thirty, including women and children.

In retaliation, Gen. Gonzalo Quipio de Llano said last night in his regular broadcast he had ordered intense aerial bombardment of the city of Jaen, capital of the Andalusian province of that name. The general said ten other insurgent cities had been subjected to intense government air bombing. One of the ten was Cordoba, where bombs were reported to have struck an insane asylum, killing many of the inmates.

The fronts northwest and northeast of Madrid were quiet. Intense artillery preparation was reported in progress along the entire Andalusian front.

GOLD PRICE CUT IS DISCUSSED

Recommendations Are Not Accepted

Burns Meat Packing Firm
Not Meeting Inquiry Findings in Vancouver.

Canadian Press
Vancouver, May 4. — John Burns, president of a packing firm bearing his name, today issued a statement saying the company could not accept recommendations by Judge J. C. McIntosh designed to settle a strike of plant workers here.

The recommendations, made by Judge McIntosh after a lengthy inquiry into conditions that led to the strike of 140 Burns workers, provided among other things for the reinstatement of the strikers.

While saying the company was unable to comply with the recommendation at once, President Burns said the firm would re-employ as many as possible of those who want to return to work "as rapidly as business conditions will permit."

TO MEET COMMITTEES

The statement continued: "We wish it understood we have no quarrel with organized labor. We recognize the right of our employees to enjoy collective bargaining and are prepared to meet the committees of our employees at any time to discuss any and all matters pertaining to their welfare."

Judge McIntosh had recommended that 131 of the 140 strikers should be re-employed, fifty in April, fifty in May and thirty-one in June. He further found that nine of nineteen men, whose discharge precipitated the strike, should be given a re-employment by company officers. The men charged they had been discharged for union activity. The company gave inefficiency as a reason.

IN DIFFICULT POSITION

Mr. Burns said the continued refusal of strikers to work "placed the company in a most difficult position" and made it necessary to employ other men.

"We are now asked to re-employ these (striking) men. This would necessitate discharging an approximately equal number of those who have remained loyal to the company during the past four months," he said. "These latter are deserving of our first consideration."

Judge McIntosh's recommendations were accepted by the strikers.

BABY SUBSIDY IN ITALY SOON

Ten Children Will Mean
$3.75 a Week More in
Family's Income

Associated Press
Rome, May 4. — The government is going to give Italian parents $3.75 a week for each new baby.

The scheme is part of Premier Mussolini's plan to check the decline in Italy's birthrate.

The original announcement of the baby subsidy said the government's contribution would be progressively larger as families expanded, but gave no figures. Now the amounts have been disclosed and married couples are calculating.

If the prospective daddy is a factory worker, for instance, it will work out like this: One baby will add 25 cents to his normal weekly salary, two babies 63 cents, three babies 94 cents and four babies $1.50.

When he acquires a brood of ten, he will be eligible to receive a supplemental wage of $3.75 a week.

For an average workman that would mean an average increase of 50 per cent over the wages he gets for his regular work.

Carbon Monoxide Overcomes Members of Two
Calgary Families

Canadian Press
Calgary, May 4. — Seven persons, members of two families, were in a hospital here today and a sparrow was blamed for their plight.

A chimney, blocked by the sparrow's nest, shot carbon monoxide fumes from a gas water heater back into the house among its sleeping occupants.

Sidney Smith, returning from his night job at a packing plant, found his wife and two sons unconscious in their beds and in other rooms of his home were Mr. and Mrs. Mack Smith of Pioneer Creek and their son and daughter, also overcome by the fumes.

Donald Smith, four-year-old son of Sidney Smith, and Margaret Smith, fourteen, daughter of Mack Smith, were reported in a serious condition.

Mack Smith is a brother of Sidney. In the vent pipe of the heater, gas inspectors found a dead sparrow along with feathers and a quantity of grass with which it had been building a nest.

Edmonton, May 4 (Canadian Press). — Accused of firing two revolver shots here Saturday at Adolf F. Dreger, Mrs. Helen Labine, nineteen-year-old wife of John V. Labine, Flat Lake farmer, was committed for trial on a charge of attempted murder when she appeared in police court here today.

International Bank Says Benefits and Problems Would Follow

Associated Press
Basel, Switzerland, May 4. — The Bank for International Settlements has reported that lowering of the gold price would help solve problems raised by the overproduction of gold, but that it would create other difficulties.

"One can hardly doubt," said the report, "that the lowering of the price of gold at the present time would aid in solving the grave problems raised by over-abundant production."

"But difficulties would result for the re-valuation of certain existing gold reserves and for the relative position of various currencies among themselves. (The equilibrium among currencies should be modified as little as possible)."

"Such a measure also would involve the future risk of currency manipulations which would add a new element of instability."

Concluding the report said: "It is also important for gold producers that a search be made for conditions which will keep gold as the metal for a monetary base, rather than limit the search to considerations of immediate profit."

Lapointe Shares Defence Debate

Protection of Empire Trade
Routes Discussed in London.

Canadian Press
London, May 4. — Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Canadian Minister of Justice, presided yesterday at a session of the Empire Parliamentary Conference at which Sir Samuel Hoare opened a discussion on defence of Empire trade routes.

Senator Louis Cote, Ottawa, and Dr. J. Heston of Barbados, took part in the discussion.

Senator Arthur C. Hardy, Brockville, Ont., was one of the speakers at an earlier session which discussed foreign affairs.

The conference was opened at Westminster Hall with an address of welcome by Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

The Screen Actors' Guild and the producers named committees to confer, beginning tomorrow, on the guild's demands. The chief one is recognition as the sole bargaining agency for motion picture players.

Some extras were reported to have refused to pass through the picket lines, but the big name players went through in numbers. No action will be taken on a proposed walkout by the guild or an agreement to observe the picket lines until its conference committee reports to a general meeting next Sunday.

HITLER IS MADMAN, SAYS RABBI WISE

Associated Press
Kansas City, May 4. — Rabbi Stephen S. Wise says he considers Adolf Hitler a "madman" who is "out to destroy civilization."

In an address last night opening the annual Jewish Welfare Federation campaign here, the New Yorkers asserted Jews were "the first victims for Hitler to attack because we are numerically weakest," and that the German's speech of last Saturday presaged "you of the Catholic Church are next."

"And you Protestants who think you are safe should know that you will follow," Rabbi Wise added.

Hope For Quick Settlement of San Francisco Strike
Fades

San Francisco, May 4. — Guests in sixteen strike-besieged hotels here faced their fourth day of making their own beds and bathing in cold water as hopes of a quick settlement waned and the city health department threatened to shut crippled buildings if sanitary regulations were violated.

The hotels were accepting no new patrons.

The strike of the 3,500 workers caught nearly 6,000 patrons in the hotels, which represent a total investment of about $55,000,000. Many since have checked out.

The strike was called Saturday when operators and union negotiators failed to agree on recognition of the newly-formed Clerks' and Office Workers' Union.

Associated Press
Hollywood, Calif., May 4. — The central strike committee, without announcing the reason, called all women marchers off the picket lines surrounding Hollywood motion picture studios today.

An official said the decision was made "after that trouble last night at the Westmore."

The House of Westmore, extravagant film colony beauty salon, was damaged by the women, called all women marchers off the picket lines surrounding Hollywood motion picture studios today.

It is owned by the four Westmore brothers, all of whom are makeup executives in different major studios. None has joined the makeup artists who are on strike.

The strikers are members of the Federated Motion Picture Crafts.

The International Association of Theatrical Stage Employees previously had reached an agreement with the producers.

Federation spokesmen today said "camera squads" would be posted at the studio gates to take pictures of members of the other American Federation of Labor affiliate passing through the F.M.O.C. picket lines.

Strikers telegraphed William Green, A.F. of L. president, protesting that the I.A.T.S.E. was attempting to sign them as members. Charles Lessing, federation press head, said he was asking the Los Angeles Central Labor Council to condemn it "as a company union, because of its anti-strike attitude."

The Screen Actors' Guild and the producers named committees to confer, beginning tomorrow, on the guild's demands. The chief one is recognition as the sole bargaining agency for motion picture players.

Some extras were reported to have refused to pass through the picket lines, but the big name players went through in numbers. Bus Strike Still Gripping London

Talk of Some of Subway
Men Walking Out

Associated Press
London, May 4. — A warning that a complete tie-up of London's transportation in these crowded pre-Coronation days might follow any attempt to break the strike of 25,000 bus drivers and conductors came today from one of the walkout's leaders.

There were reports that some members of the subway and street car unions desired to strike in support of the busmen, although the latter's organization has opposed any sympathy walkout, at least until after a board of inquiry reports.

The bus union official said, however, that a strike of a part of the four-day stoppage would be aggravated greatly if motor coach companies were permitted to run coaches over the idle bus routes.

Associated Press

No result was announced. The Duke is suing for libel, demanding damages, and has sought an injunction restraining circulation of the book, published last month.

PLYMOUTH ROCK PAINT REMOVED

Associated Press
Plymouth, Mass., May 4. —irate town fathers, indignant at defacement of historic Plymouth Rock with red paint, called in a chemist today to do what turpentine and paint remover could not.

His task was to remove the paint from minute rock cracks into which it splashed when vandals daubed a red smear last Saturday over the inscription "1620" in the boulder.

Tradition has it that the Pilgrims first set foot on the rocks when they landed in 1620.

Phil Frankford, Massachusetts secretary of the Communist Party, "repudiated indignantly" in a telegram to Chairman James A. White of the Selectmen, "irresponsible statements" that Communists might have applied the paint as a May Day gesture.

Pope Replies To Hitler Note

Pontiff Insists Church Must Be Left Free in Germany

Associated Press
Vatican City, May 4. — Pope Pius XII today replied to the Catholic Church must be left to fulfill its mission in Nazi Germany.

The Pontiff's reply to the recent German church note, which itself was a reply to the Pope's pre-Easter encyclical accusing the German government of violating the 1933 church-state concordat, was delivered by Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli to the German ambassador to the Holy See, Diego von Bergen.

Vatican sources said the note did not mention Hitler's May Day speech, when he warned against sermons or "encyclicals" which "disturb" the Third Reich. It took a more moderate tone than the encyclical, and left the way open for further conversations about the concordat, which set up separate spheres of church and state influence in the Reich.

The note maintained, however, the church's insistence that economic pressure must not be brought to bear against Catholics in Germany; that the Catholic schools and the Catholic press should not be hampered.

The Pontiff's reply to the recent German church note, which itself was a reply to the Pope's pre-Easter encyclical accusing the German government of violating the 1933 church-state concordat, was delivered by Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli to the German ambassador to the Holy See, Diego von Bergen.

Vatican sources said the note did not mention Hitler's May Day speech, when he warned against sermons or "encyclicals" which "disturb" the Third Reich. It took a more moderate tone than the encyclical, and left the way open for further conversations about the concordat, which set up separate spheres of church and state influence in the Reich.

The note maintained, however, the church's insistence that economic pressure must not be brought to bear against Catholics in Germany; that the Catholic schools and the Catholic press should not be hampered.

Fascists Taken In Franco Round-up

Canadian Press from Havas
Hendaye, on the Franco-Spanish frontier, May 4.—An iron-handed campaign to suppress the Spanish Phalanx (Fascist) today was reported under way throughout rebel-held Spain with more than 200 Fascist leaders in custody.

At the same time it was learned that Serrau y Bonastri had left Burgos and crossed the French frontier after resigning his foreign affairs portfolio in the insurgent technical junta. According to reliable sources, he did not plan to return to Spain.

Trouble flared between Generalissimo Francisco Franco and the Phalangists after the latter had balked at his recent decree merging all political groups in rebel territory.

National and provincial Fascist leaders have been steadily rounded up and the activities of the group suppressed.

Ottawa Car Does
134 to Gallon

Ottawa, May 4.—Paul Emile, machinist, claims he secured an average of 134.4 miles to a gallon of gasoline operating a heavy car with a carburetor of his own invention. The carburetor is the result of eight years' work and experiment in a modest Ottawa shop.

"With my invention, gasoline is blown into fine bubbles and the engine utilizes a much larger percentage of the power of gasoline," Desrochers explained.

Insurance Issue Is Humanitarian, Not Political, Says Minister

Canadian Press

Vancouver, May 4.—Health insurance is not a political issue, but a humanitarian one, and if the proposed plebiscite is lost health insurance will receive a serious setback, Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, said last night at a crowded Liberal rally here.

Eight of the nine Liberal candidates who will contest Vancouver City ridings also spoke.

British Columbia today is spending $4,500,000 annually on health and welfare, Dr. Weir said. At the present rate the province would have spent $7,000,000 in ten years and only by preventive work and better service could those mounting costs be checked, he declared.

"Keep the people well—that's what we want," the minister said.

TRADE NEEDED

Stanley McKeen, Liberal candidate in Point Grey riding, stressed British Columbia's need for world trade, while Mrs. Paul Smith, Burrard riding candidate, told how each department of the Liberal government had done its share to add work and wages in the province. She also had a word of admiration for Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, in restoring the province to a position of confidence in the eyes of the financial world.

Telford Announces C.C.F. Platform With Refunding Proposal

Canadian Press

Vancouver, May 4.—Dr. J. Lyle Telford, leader of the British Columbia branch of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, has released the provincial election manifesto of his party as drafted Saturday at a party council meeting here.

Dr. Telford said the platform pledged his party to institution of economic planning councils to bring in a new order of society; establishment of commissions to control highways, public utilities and natural resources; provincial government monopoly of brewing and distilling, and the distribution of petroleum products.

"We are not so unrealistic as to think that everything you and I might desire can be attained in a year, nor for that matter, in four or five years or more," Dr. Telford said in a prepared statement issued at C.C.F. headquarters.

FINANCE PLANS

Dr. Telford said the financial plank of the party platform proposed:

1. Consolidation of provincial government debt by conversion to non-maturing fixed interest-bearing bonds callable at option of the government after a limited term of years, and government support to municipalities in their efforts to reduce debt loads.

2. Careful redistribution of the tax burden, to give greater relief to those in the lower income brackets. Higher income and inheritance taxes in the upper brackets. Tax increases on monopolistic business, speculative land holdings and alienated natural resources. Taxation of corporation surpluses.

(The "socialization of finance and credit" plank adopted by a provincial C.C.F. convention in 1936—responsible in part for the formation by Rev. Robert Connell of the British Columbia Constructive Party—was dropped from the 1937 platform.)

FINANCE TALK

Dr. Telford in his statement said finance would remain the most serious task confronting government so long as the real ownership of wealth was in private hands.

"When our wealth is owned and controlled by society," he said, "then society will issue its own money and credit, and not be hampered, as we are today, by private control of the nation's money and credit."

Pulitzer Novel Prize in U.S. Goes to "Gone With the Wind"

Associated Press

New York, May 4.—Margaret Mitchell wrote 1,037 pages for "Gone With the Wind," but she could find only four words with which to greet the news that her book had won the annual Pulitzer prize.

"I'm astounded," was the first reaction of the Atlanta author. She groped for words. Then...

"I'm overwhelmed."

The award for the novel of United States Civil War days in Georgia carried with it $1,000 in cash, a pitance compared with what she has earned from the 1,350,000 copies of the book already printed, or what she will earn from the motion picture about to be made.

Miss Mitchell—in private life Mrs. John R. Marsh—was one of fourteen men and women honored with the Pulitzer awards in journalism and letters, announced last night by the trustees of Columbia University. Selection of her one and she says—only novel was one of the least surprising to most critics.

DRAMA AWARD

An undercurrent of criticism greeted the award to the play "You Can't Take It With You," by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, as the best "original American play, performed in New York, which shall represent in marked fashion the educational value and power of the stage..."

Burns Mantle, drama critic of The New York Daily News, who last year criticized the Pulitzer drama award to Robert Sherwood's "Idiot's Delight," said he thought "the play chosen for a first prize should have more distinction in writing, be a little more of serious consequence and significance in the theatre."

George S. Kaufman is better known to people who don't know the theatre as the man Mary Astor mentioned in her diary. Mr. Kaufman holds the phenomenal record of being the author of some fifteen hit plays on Broadway in as many years.

POETRY PRIZE

The poetry award was given to Robert Frost for his "A Further Range."

The prize for the best American historical work went to Van Wyck Brooks, for his "Flowering of New England."

The biography prize was given to Allan Nevins, for his "Hamilton Fish, the Inner History of the Grant Administration."

The leading newspaper award went to The St. Louis Post Dispatch for "disinterested and meritorious public service" in exposing wholesale election registration frauds in St. Louis.

Revision Measure Passed at Recent Sessions of Parliament Is Proclaimed

Canadian Press

Ottawa, May 4.—A proclamation bringing the Canadian National Railways Capital Revision Act into operation as from May 1 was issued last night. The act, passed at the recent session of Parliament, provides for revision of the capital structure and the accounting set-up of the government owned railway.

One of the chief results of the act is creation of a securities trust corporation composed of senior government and railway officials which will hold certain stocks of the Canadian National and Canadian Northern Railway companies which will be turned over to it by the government. It is also to hold certain government being taken out of the railway claims against the railway which are balance sheet.

The act was designed to remove a duplication of some $1,500,000,000 between the railway accounts and the public accounts of Canada.

Conservative Leader Asks C.C.F. and Constructives to Join Him

New Denver, B.C., May 4.—At the Kaslo-Slocan nominating convention last night, Dr. Frank Patterson, provincial Conservative leader, appealed to the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation and the British Columbia Constructives to align themselves with Conservatives in the election campaign.

"Many C.C.F. and Constructive followers are now lining up with the Conservatives," he declared. "Not because they have turned Conservative but because they feel that an opposition against the government divided into several sections has not the same opportunity of effecting reforms as a united body. The Conservative platform is one of reform, and it affords scope for considerable freedom of thought."

NOT A POLITICIAN

Referring to himself as leader of the Conservative party in British Columbia, Dr. Patterson said it had been charged that he was not a politician. "That's the greatest compliment that could be paid me," he said. "I know I am not a politician in the ordinary acceptance of the word in B.C. I think I may say I have met with some success in my own profession and that I recognize honesty in public administration. I know that's the kind of persons the electors wish at Victoria."

Lawrence, thirty-year-old resident of this Fraser valley community, was killed instantly yesterday when he was crushed between the wall of a garage and his heavy truck. Back In The Fold

THE CONSERVATIVE PARTY OF Victoria last night selected Mr. Herbert Anscomb, former Reeve of Oak Bay, former Mayor of Victoria, and a member of the last provincial Parliament; Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter, an energetic worker in the municipal realm; Mr. B. A. McKelvie, an experienced newspaperman and versed in British Columbia's folklore, and Mr. Fred A. Willis, long identified with the affairs of the Conservative party in this city; as its candidates in the general election to be held on June 1.

Considering the array of aspirants before the convention last night, The Times considers that Victoria Conservatives appointed standard-bearers for their cause who ought to be able to render a good account of themselves at the polls, although The Times will use all the arguments at its command in an effort to defeat them. The speeches of the candidates were not of a type that would appear to detract to any material extent from the estimable record of the Pattullo government—especially when contrasted with that of the Tolmie government, ardently supported in the Legislature by Mr. Anscomb, Alderman Hunter and Mr. Willis, of course, were not in that particular picture.

It is appropriate to get straight the record of the government of which Mr. Anscomb was an ardent supporter. In 1928, the Tolmie administration was elected to attend to the affairs of the people of the province of British Columbia, and as each session came round, its supporters began, figuratively speaking, to wriggle in their chairs in the Legislature. That government set a record for Canada in sticking to office until the constitutional period had expired—and a little after. It had completely disintegrated. At the general election of 1933, the only Conservative, as such, who had the courage to remain loyal to his convictions and run as a straight Conservative was Mr. W. C. Moresby, K.C., who failed to win the approval of last night's convention. He did not renege in 1933.

It is not for us to enlarge upon this aspect of the selection of candidates made. It is permitted to remind the voters of Victoria, however, that Ministers of the Crown in the Tolmie administration left the governmental ship and, under various fantastic labels which meant nothing, appealed for the suffrage of the electorate nearly four years ago. But the Conservatives of Victoria seem now to have agreed to whistle to keep up their courage. We wonder what Dr. Tolmie thinks, as he surveys the provincial political field—and thinks of those who "let him down."

"A National Disgrace"

THAT IS HOW SOUTHERN EDITORS are classifying the murdering of Roosevelt Townes with the white flame of a gasoline blowtorch by an infuriated mob. Townes and "Bootjack" McDaniels (colored) had been accused of shooting a storekeeper. The mob took the negroes from Sheriff E. E. Wright and his deputies shortly after they had been arraigned and had denied the charge. It is said that they confessed under the blowtorch flame as they were chained to trees. Who wouldn't confess to anything with a blowtorch playing on him? Townes was finally burned to death after screaming a confession. McDaniels, screaming from the torch burnings, was shot to death.

The thought is coming into minds everywhere, "If lynching is an effective way of curbing crime why isn't the south a model, law-abiding section?" Although editors everywhere are having difficulty in curbing their language those in the south are most scathing in their denunciation of these fiends whose crime was many times worse than that of whoever killed the storekeeper.

"We Do Not Care"

IT IS DIFFICULT FOR US IN CANADA to fathom Japanese Premier Hayashi's state of mind when he says that in spite of the fact that his army-controlled government was so overwhelmingly defeated last week he will not resign. We would like to know what would happen to any government in Canada, or in any British country, which, having won 400 seats out of 466, decided to cling to office.

After all, however, Premier Hayashi is condescending when he says that "if an official organ like an organized political party introduces a vote of non-confidence in the Diet, then we may consider the matter." He amplified this statement with the following comments: "The government will proceed with its reform programme and we do not care whether political parties support us or not. . . . I wish to correct prevailing politics, which, during the last sixty or seventy years, have been twisted by force of foreign ideas, and re-establish constitutional politics peculiar to Japan."

Here is a case of Oriental democracy on test. The outcome of Premier Hayashi's statement may be the forerunner of much trouble for Japan. His country has been sending young men and young women to the universities of the western world. It is the same with China. The young men and young women who cross the Pacific want to know all about the Occidental process. These Occidentalized young men take back to their Oriental native lands progressive ideas which do not readily take root.

Premier Hayashi, if we may take his statements at their face value, is still living in the eighteenth century. He does not seem to realize that the will of the people must prevail. All he has to do is to ponder the world situation. In Britain there are strikes today. In the United States there are strikes—which mean, of course, the clogging of the economic wheels which, unless they are running normally, will not produce the weekly wage cheque. That means still more economic strife.

Japan will, or, at least, we think she will, discover that to put the thumb of autocracy to the nose of democracy will not pay in the long run. Premier Hayashi does not seem to have picked a very opportune time to tell the people of his country that their wishes, as represented by a vote of 400 to 466, in opposition to him, will stiffen his opposition. His autocratic attitude, nevertheless, if the dispatches from Tokio mean anything at all, may bring him considerable grief in the next few days.

M. Blum's Mistake

BECAUSE OUR POLITICIANS GENERALLY are not literary inclined, they escape the danger of getting themselves into jams such as the one Premier Leon Blum of France is in now.

In 1912, when Blum did not dream he would one day govern the republic, he wrote a "Treatise on Marriage." It was a frank, unorthodox, and frolicsome work—what our critics would call starkly realistic and revealing in places. But the French people, who, with all their faults, do not go to books for their sex life—ignored it. But now that Blum is Premier, the book has been re-discovered and is going like hot cakes—like a rumor in Victoria. It is in its twentieth edition.

This should serve as another warning to politicians. Never, never write a book—on marriage or anything else—if you plan to seek elective office. It will be dug up, some day, and come back to haunt you as a ghost from your unregenerate past. What one puts down on paper can be immortal—at a time when one most earnestly wishes it would die.

Twilight of a God

FATHER DIVINE HAS BEEN jailed, captured as he crouched behind a furnace in the cellar of his Milford, Conn., "heaven." The man whom thousands in branch "heavens" in cities of United States and Canada, including Victoria, hailed as "Father Divine is God" meekly submitted to the police and said, "All right, I'll go along." The arrest followed rioting in his Harlem "heaven," during which one man was stabbed with an ice pick, and others injured. This divinity had had troubles before, but had been able to rise supremely above them. They always came from below the Harlem flat where "heaven" has been, and were instituted by unbelievers. This time, knives flashed among the "angels" themselves and among the more devout lay members of the "Peace, It's Wonderful!" society, which at the moment of the riot was holding the stage.

Father Divine had gone in for divinity in only a modest way when, four or five years ago, he was brought before a New York magistrate on a charge of disturbing the peace of what was called a fashionable neighborhood. The magistrate, failing to recognize "De Lawd," sent him to jail. However, the magistrate was stricken and died of heart disease shortly afterwards. Neither Father Divine nor his followers missed the significance of this incident. The "miracle" soon raised the "Messiah" from amateur to professional rank as a divinity. It made "Harlem Heaven" a going concern with its publicity values on an international scale. The appeal was not limited to negroes, but was embraced by more and more of those good white souls to whom the primitive call of a "miracle" is ever a fundamental of religious conviction.

If there were no heavenly fish-frys and ten-cent "seagars" in Father Divine's "heaven" as there were in that pictured in Marc Connelly's famed play and movie, "The Green Pastures," there always was plenty of food, which made the pastures greener. There was, also, always the singing of the angel choir, as in "The Green Pastures." But the Angel Gabe seems to have been missing. It has been asked whether it could have been Gabe who blew the horn from down below the other night and interrupted the millennium.

However, what is most compelling in convincing us that the jig is up for Father Divine comes from the domestic front. When a wife can say as his did the other day that he is just "a damned man," we are certain it must be the end for any divinity. For the "God" who cannot rule his own home roost, is, forsooth, not a veri-god.

SOMEWHERE IN THE HIGHLANDS.

DINING IN COMFORT

THE ENGLISH are a hardy race. They pretend to like cold and privation, and their pretence is pretty convincing. The Scots really do like it. In the inn where I am writing this—on a marble washstand, the temperature of the room being something below 40 degrees Fahrenheit and my fingers almost too stiff to hit the keys of the typewriter—a number of Scottish people are staying.

The dining-room, when we went in just now, was almost at the freezing point, and our breath went up in white clouds. As a concession to the soft Americans (as we are universally regarded) the proprietor brought in an "electric fire," a small affair the size of a toaster, and placed it in the middle of the vast open space of the ancient room. It couldn't make the least impression on that draughty sweep of country, but the color was bright.

The Scottish people didn't like it, however. A young professor from the University of Edinburgh, who had come out to Loch Ard for his Easter holidays, got up and, with great dignity, removed the toaster from the vicinity of his chair and nearer to us. (We were still numb.) He said to his wife, in a whisper designed for us to hear: "This hotel is getting positively impossible with all this dead air. I'm positively baked all the time. I mean to say, it's most unhealthy." His wife agreed. A number of old English ladies, who were quietly freezing to death under their shawls, nodded their heads. But the Scots, male and female, all thought the young professor was quite right.

AIR

AFTER dinner they opened the front door of the house and all the doors of the living-rooms just to air the place out. It was close to freezing out-of-doors in the remote Highlands. The old English ladies' teeth chattered as they played bridge and the cards trembled in their blue hands. They nodded in agreement again when the professor said he could never concentrate on his game in all this dead air, and he went and opened a window. So I came upstairs to my bedroom and warmed my fingers over the typewriter. A typewriter is singularly ineffectual for the purpose.

A high-class Scottish inn in the Highlands is not exactly a place of carnival and revelry. In the dining-room hardly a word is said. The red-faced, clean-cut young stalks out, seeks a cold here to fish for salmon, tries an occasional ally with the ladies at his table, but he is soon discouraged and lapses into a moody silence and a stiff Scotch and soda. In the corner is a rich old lady and her young unmarried daughter, who is her slave. She complains of everything, the food, the service, the heat of the toaster and the Baldwin government. She makes her daughter run to get her glasses, her paper, her shawl, and hushes the poor girl with a fierce look whenever she ventures to utter a word.

GRANDE DAME

NEXT to us is a still more formidable piece of scenery, a lady six feet high, white with age, but still handsome in a long, horsey fashion. She sits on the edge of her chair very straight, in full evening dress, freezing gallantly, and says nothing to anyone. She eats her food and consumes half a bottle of wine as if she were alone in the room. Then she looks out, seeks a cold corner in the lounge and spends the evening alone, knitting a sweater. At 10 o'clock, according to a well-established ritual, the boots, an aged red-faced Scot, brings her a stiff Scotch and soda. This she consumes rapidly and stalks off to bed. She was heard this afternoon to complain in a loud voice to the manager that she thought she actually heard the sound of a typewriter in one of the rooms of this hotel. She was incredible, she said, that anyone would bring a typewriter into a hotel—such an appalling noise, you know—but, of course, you never knew what Americans would do.

POOR FOLKS

HAPPILY this inn is not Scotland. In the smaller places there is a fine joviality and far less reverence than in England. They are all interested in Canada, because they have relatives there, and will listen by the hour if you will tell them about it.

Most of Scotland doesn't live like the people in this inn. Most of Scotland is poor and lives in a tiny stone cottage and buys its coal by the hundred pounds, eking it out with a few sticks of wood taken from the roadside and carried home on some horse's back. There are large forests here, but the ordinary man can't cut them; rushing rivers to make the angler's mouth water, but the ordinary man can't fish in them; herds of pheasants and grouse, but the ordinary man can't kill them. The estate of the Duke in this district is larger than any of our western ranches, and everybody living here, from the most prosperous tradesman to the poorest crofter, is his tenant. But the great estates are breaking up fast, under the pressure of taxation. In another half century at this rate there will be few of them left.

Obviously they can't all be made into historical monuments like Kenilworth, Bodiam Goodrich and scores of others. The National Trust, which looks after these places and keeps them in repair, seems to have its hands full now. Another depression, which seems bound to come in time, probably will cause a huge reversion of property to the Crown. What will be done with it then, no one seems to know.

DARWIN'S NATURAL SELECTION DEFENDED BY BRITISHER

NEW HAVEN, CONN. Darwin's original theory of natural selection still remains the only general explanation of the process of evolution, Prof. David S. M. Watson of the University of London declared in a lecture at Yale University, "although," he conceded, "it is clear that other and probably quite dissimilar factors must play a part."

For the apparently meaningless suppression or magnification of some part of an animal, which has always been a riddle and a stumbling-block to evolutionists, Prof. Watson offered a tentative explanation from the field of genetics. It is possible, he pointed out, for a gene or a gene-combination that benefits the animal in one way to act also toward the modification of structures or characters that do not have any discernible benefit in the struggle for survival.

HOW CRAZY?

From The Moncton Transcript Students of natural history are asking for the revision of certain current beliefs. Some one in Ohio announces that the expression "crazy as a loon" is crasier than the loon which actually is one of the most sensible of birds. Its yodling cry is loony only in the sense that it is uttered by the loon. It thrives on fish and every Canadian is aware what a fish diet has done for the people of the Maritimes.

"DOES LAST LONGER"

Paish's Warning

By SIR GEORGE PAISH

Editor of The London Statist and Financial Adviser to the British Government During the Great War

In an address during his recent visit to Seattle:

THE world is drifting into chaos due to the action of governments that hope for results and get the consequences. The world is in greater danger than ever before in its history.

Nations all over the world cannot maintain themselves unless they sell their goods to other nations. The world is in danger of a complete breakdown.

Our prosperity has come from international trade. You could not have developed your country in the way it was developed without international trade.

Population of the United States over 100 years ago was only 5,000,000. Poverty of the world at the beginning of the last century was appalling.

A free trade policy was adopted by Great Britain in 1816. In 1913, international trade amounted to $25,000,000,000, as against $2,000,000,000 a century before. Great Britain led the world to prosperity by opening the markets of the world. Wealth grew in Great Britain as in no other country except the United States. This was due to right thinking, to leadership. Great Britain based her prosperity on world prosperity.

How about the future? How about the present?

Income in Germany last year was one-half what it was before the war. Bankers will soon refuse to give Hitler more credit.

Mussolini went into Ethiopia because he was in danger of losing his job. I expect revolution in Italy within eighteen months, and in Germany within the next twelve months.

American will also be in great distress. Your buying power is being maintained by fabulous expenditures of your government—your billions of borrowing. You are in danger of complete bankruptcy.

Your total net debt in 1932 was $223,000,000,000, and your wealth was not more than that sum at that time. At the present time your debts are equal to your total wealth, and unless the income of the country can be kept at high level your debts cannot be honored.

In 1929 your income was $85,000,000,000.

In 1932 your income was $42,000,000,000.

In 1936 your income was $60,000,000,000.

America cannot be safe until she sells, either at home or abroad, her full production. Your farmers have curtailed their crops and the government has paid them for not producing, and that money has stimulated buying. Everything you have done has been a palliative—not a remedy.

Each nation wants to sell, but it doesn't want to buy. We live by trade. Every nation is engaged in a policy of national self-sufficiency. Today bankers are dealing in government bonds instead of commercial credit.

The present social order cannot be maintained. What does that mean? It means world revolution.

Last year governments of the world spent $10,000,000,000 to keep going. Government credit is the final resource. The situation must be rectified before credit is exhausted.

Nations have fallen back on their last resources—the government's credit. Now that is fast going. If nothing is done, terrible things will happen—in this order:

Privation, starvation, revolution, war, chaos.

The cure? The nations must meet, and must realize that, though government has remained the same and government policies the same, the world has been so closely united by communication and transportation and many other things, that it should be, for economic purposes, a single unit—as nations once were.

The nations must come together, bringing their contributions and preparing to sacrifice. Perhaps Germany should be given back her colonies. Trade barriers must be lowered. Nations must be allowed to sell their goods.

What nations are likely to take the right kind of action? Only two great nations can do things—America and Great Britain.

We must have statesmen—not politicians.

We must have a new mentality. The world is sick—sick through the mind, not through the body.

We must get back to first principles.

HOT AND COLD

To the Editor:—The newspapers publish yards of news about the coming Coronation in Britain.

But it is noted that dispatches printed regarding the war preparations of that same country have to date made no mention of the fact that its government was severely questioned (and with no satisfactory answer given) as to its defense department placing orders exceeding $1,000,000 with German machine companies in the last three months.

Why should the press seek to give this ceremony an international value and yet try to cover up the international nature of finance and war?

Or is this another example of vaunted British fair play?

FROM AN UNCOMPROMISING FUNDAMENTALIST

To the Editor:—A letter from Mr. C. Madden mentions the ice ages.

But, I say, there were no such things as ice ages.

All the natural changes on the earth in the past were caused by the flood recorded in Genesis.

This flood occurred 4,285 years ago.

MRS. COLCLOUGH'S QUESTION

To the Editor:—With reference to Mrs. Colclough's request for a reason why Mr. Baldwin would like to see the Spanish loyalists lose the war.

Mr. Baldwin as head of a Conservative government stands for aristocracy, capitalism and imperialism. British interests are heavily involved in Spain. If Franco wins it means cheap labor and suppression of the masses as in Italy and Germany. A loyalist win means a republic with strong labor unions and rational education. This would not be so good for capitalism, which regards labor as merely a cost in production to be kept at the minimum.

While it is true our imperialists are sorely worried over the Italian threat in the Mediterranean, they are rightly aware that a democracy with a decided leaning towards socialism may be still more dangerous to their position. Baldwin as a man may be flawless, but he must serve those whom he represents.

SMALLPOX FACTS FROM AN EXPERIENCED MAN

To the Editor:—Dora Kitto's latest epistle of smallpox is a masterpiece of its kind. She knows absolutely nothing about the subject, but is willing to pass judgment on the case, basing her decision not on facts, but on her own personal opinion.

I have been in every hole on the Asiatic side from Korea to Darin; have seen smallpox in its most virulent form; been shipmates with it. Yet, along with the majority of my seafaring brothers have escaped this scourge—not because of cleanliness, etc., but by vaccination. I have seen sore arms from the effects of vaccination principally among stokers, which after all can be easily explained, but I haven't seen or heard of any ship in the last twenty years with its crew out of action from this cause.

I have sailed with two cases of this plague. The first, an apprentice, came aboard just before sailing, had a certificate from the town registrar certifying that the bearer had been vaccinated, but that he would not take. He died of smallpox and was buried at sea. I discovered afterwards that the youth had not been vaccinated and the certificate was a fake. His parents did not believe in it!

The second case: An ordinary seaman signed on at Vancouver and was vaccinated at Darin. He maintained he could not be vaccinated as he was immune. He developed smallpox on the voyage home and was buried at sea. On making inquiries we found this unfortunate man had on being vaccinated sucked the wound. He had learned this trick in the army. He did not believe in vaccination.

It seems funny to me, that if vaccination is useless the rest of us, the ones who ate and barked with the victims should have survived.

Going back a year or so ago in this city, a certain youth paid with his life when he assisted in putting a dead seaman in his coffin at the quarantine station. The doctors, nurses and staff at the station who nursed the sailor were immune, being vaccinated, but this unfortunate youth died a victim of smallpox. He was not vaccinated.

ANGLO SAXONS KEY TO PEACE

Mrs. Archibald Tells Gyro Club That Germany Was Watching England

"The responsibility of world peace rested with the Anglo-Saxon nations," Mrs. H. M. Archibald told the Gyro Club at its luncheon meeting in the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Archibald made a plea for the members of the club to give time, thought, and energy to the question of peace.

"My son was in Germany when the Nazis marched into the demilitarized Rhine zone," Mrs. Archibald said. "I asked him what the attitude of the common German was, and he told me that it was not France that Germany was watching but England. What England would do worried the common German."

The speaker described the war-mongering nations as talking the language of 200 years ago. The Anglo-Saxons had a vision of the future and were also the leaders of the world.

Bert Osborough assured Mrs. Archibald that the Gyro Club would do all in its power to further the ends of peace.

Major Cuthbert Holmes introduced the speaker.

Bill Hudson, former district governor, introduced Tommy Watkins, a new member of the club.

OLD-TIMER ON PRAIRIES HERE

W. Eldridge, Visiting City, Was in Manitoba Before Confederation

A pioneer who saw Winnipeg when it was a town with 300 inhabitants, William Goodridge, has been a visitor in Victoria since January.

Mr. Goodridge for thirty years was postmaster and notary public at Waseca, Saskatchewan. He came to Canada in 1869 as an adventurous youth, twenty-one years old, and was in Manitoba when it joined Confederation.

He was a member of one of the first survey parties in Manitoba, and had to wait until the first meridian in Manitoba was run before the territory between Winnipeg and Portage la Prairie could be blocked out. While surveying, he saw government runners calling for aid in the Fenian raids.

Among the old-timers with whom Mr. Goodridge was acquainted were: Dr. J. C. Schultz, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba in 1888, who was knighted for his part in subduing the Riel Rebellion, and Capt. Kennedy, who headed the expedition in search of the Franklin expedition north of Hudson Bay.

When Mr. Goodridge first knew Winnipeg, it was divided into long, narrow lots, each giving the name of its owner to dirt roads which have since become the streets of the modern city.

DECORATIONS ALL ELECTRIC

Colored Streamers and Illuminated Fountains Main City Coronation Motif

Victoria's official decorations for the celebration of the Coronation period will be entirely electrical, members of the committee in charge of that department of the city's festivities announced today.

Owing to the possibility of high winds during the night destroying the special flower baskets arranged for the year as one of the main decorative features, the attractive hanging garlands will not be put into place until the season is further advanced and the weather more settled.

Already in holiday garb by virtue of the colored streamers slung between blocks in the downtown area, the city will be further enhanced with extensive illuminations in Beacon Hill Park as well as at the old fountain at the junction of Hillside Avenue, Gorge Road, Government and Douglas Streets.

Plans also call for the outline of the City Hall in a special lighting effect which should add brilliance to that part of town.

At BEACON HILL
Beacon Hill will be transformed into a veritable fairland by night. Colored lights will be strung over the Goodacre park bridge and flood and spot lights will be located on the island in the centre. The bandstand will be outlined with globes and colored strings will be slung among the trees.

Both fountains in Beacon Hill and at the Hillside, Government and Gorge Road junction will be illuminated in such a manner as to permit the cascading waters to flow without interruption.

Efforts are also being made to rush work on the outline of a lighthouse for the centre-road boulevard on Pandora Avenue, but the committee is not yet certain the project can be completed in time for the Coronation itself.

The city's scheme will conform with that of the provincial government and the C.P.R. who plan to illuminate the Parliament Buildings and the Empress Hotel for the period.

In devoting their plans entirely to the decorative lighting, the city has aimed to avoid as far as possible any type of adornment which might obscure vision for downtown traffic, such as shrouded lamp standards and low-hung bunting which might be responsible for car accidents during the period.

Merchants of the city have accorded the committee virtually complete cooperation in the decoration of windows and in outside Coronation effects which will make Victoria completely in tune with the holiday mood.

Flood Appeal Response Slow

The response to the Canadian Red Cross Society's appeal for $250,000 across Canada for the relief of victims of the Ontario floods has so far been slow in Victoria, according to Hugh Birch-Jones, provincial commissioner.

The society urges immediate assistance in its move to aid 1,800 who have been made homeless by the floods. Contributions may be made to the society's Victoria headquarters, room 519 Belmont Building, or at any chartered bank.

Weddings

On Tuesday, April 27, Beryl, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Smith, was married by Rev. James H. Beall to Frederick Page, elder son of Mrs. A. Page, Duncan, and the late Mr. Page, at a quiet ceremony at Port Angeles, Washington.

The bride was charming in a traveling dress of navy blue silk, and was escorted by her father, who wore a corsage bouquet of rosebuds and lily of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Page will reside in Victoria.

Schaffner-Cullingford

The marriage took place on April 21, in Vancouver, of Evelyn, only daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cullingford, 1013 Pendergast Street, Victoria, and Walter, only son of Supreme Court Justice Richard Schaffner and Mrs. Schaffner of Frankfurt-on-the-Main, Germany. After a brief stay in the city they will leave for the Continent.

Will Exhibit Handicraft And Arts

An interesting exhibition and demonstration of handicraft will be held at the Academy of Useful Arts, 833 Port Street, tomorrow.

Pupils will demonstrate smocking, ragging and the making of dainty ribbon and lace-bow flowers so popular for costume trimmings just now. They will also show cushions, dresses, blouses and jackets made by the pupils of the Academy.

A specially interesting feature of the exhibit will be models of the human figure. Since dressmaking is regaining its old-time popularity, these forms are a source of joy both to the professional and the home dressmaker, since they provide an exact replica of the individual. How they are made should be seen, but the finished product is stiffened so as to retain its shape and durability, and is a wonderful boon to the costumer.

Mrs. Erickson will display a varied assortment of the old-fashioned hooked rag rugs, or her own handwork. These rugs of floor mats as they were called illustrate old patterns which are in vogue in Nova Scotia in our grandmothers' day. There are others adapted to modern times, while perhaps the most charming of all are those which express the art and skill of Mrs. Erickson herself. At present she is finding it almost impossible to meet the big demand for her rugs, and she is convinced that there is a growing market for well-made and artistic hooked rag rugs if women would only take up this fascinating craft.

St. Aidan's Friendly Group—St. Aidan's Friendly Group will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Gilbert, Mount Tolmie, on Wednesday evening. An interesting programme has been arranged and ladies are requested to attend representing a flower, and gentlemen a book.

Busy Time for Young Canadians

Entertainment in England for Coronation Students

London, May 4.—Plans are complete for entertainment of Canada's 300 children, chosen from schools all over the Dominion to attend the Coronation as representatives of the younger generation.

But, although they will see the Coronation procession from their own stand in Hyde Park, the boys and girls have not left school behind altogether and have serious duties to perform.

Before they left Canada the children signed a promise that their behavior in England will be of the best, "realizing as I do that I represent not only my school but the province and Dominion of Canada, I shall do my utmost to leave behind nothing but the best of impressions of Canada's youth."

Journeying from home, the boys in the Montrose and the girls in the Duchess of Atholl, lectures were planned on Canada so they can answer questions intelligently.

After the Coronation they will be scattered all over England in groups from two to twenty as guests in outstanding English schools, where they will take part in lessons, games and outings of regular students' life. Among the schools acting as hosts are Rugby, Wellington, Malvern, Cheltenham Ladies' College, Shrewsbury and others equally important.

After three weeks' schooling, with no end-of-the-term exams to face as they have been conceded these at home, the young Canadians are to go to the seaside.

The boys will be quartered in Folkestone, where every morning they are to be given an illustrated lecture on some part of the Empire.

The girls are to go to Eastbourne and will be given a course in English literature as a vacation task, with hikes over the Downs and sea bathing to vary the programme.

The Canadian children, fourteen to nineteen years of age, will wear a uniform to distinguish them from other visitors. The boys are to be in navy double-breasted suits and navy caps with the Overseas Education League crest in front, and deep crimson blazers with "Canada" in gold embroidered on the breast pocket. The girls will have white wool sweaters with polo collars and long sleeves, navy skirts and wear berets with a round silver badge of the silver shield of knowledge. Both are to have navy ties with crimson crowns and G.R. in tiny brocade design.

Cup and Saucer Social—The Ladies' Guild of Lake Hill Mission will hold a unique social in the nature of a cup and saucer shower for use of the guild and mission socials, at the home of Mrs. Moffat, 3730 Savannah Road, tomorrow afternoon from 2.30 to 5 o'clock. An interesting programme is arranged.

Owing to Coronation Day falling on the second Wednesday the second sewing meeting in May will be held on the third Wednesday, May 19, instead. St. Aidan's Tea—A Coronation silver tea will be held in St. Aidan's assembly hall on Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, under the auspices of the C.G.I.T. group. An interesting programme has been arranged with Mrs. Harry Youson, Barbara Dawson, Janet Dobbs and Kenneth Tipper taking part. All interested friends are invited to attend.

Will Drive Caravan In West

Canadian Press

Ottawa, May 4. — In overalls and peaked cap, dirty hands and an often-smudged face, auburn-haired Dorothy Iveson is trying to learn all about the "insides" of automobiles before next Friday. Then she is off for the West to drive a Sunday-School-Caravan for children in the drought areas of Saskatchewan.

Miss Iveson arrived here from nearby Winnipeg, her home town, the beginning of last week and started to work in a garage to prepare herself for her job, but confesses she has a lot to learn in the next few days. "I've greased a car, changed tires, and removed carburetors, and so on, but still hope there are plenty of garages on the road," she said. The caravan driving last year "didn't even have a flat tire," she added hopefully.

The caravan is about the size of a two-ton truck. Miss Iveson is slight and small.

Besides herself, there will be the teacher, Elizabeth Gulliver of Whiteby, Ont. The two girls will live in the caravan for the five months of their western motoring, preparing their own meals and sleeping in bunks in the van.

"The driver gets the meals," she said. "No, I wouldn't say I was a good chef, but I can cook."

Canada House Is Gaily Decorated

Canadian Press

London, May 4.—Canada House, just off Trafalgar Square, has been decked out in a brilliant display of the maple leaf's fall colorings for the Coronation. Golden russet drapery covers the walls of the three-tiered stand that almost conceals two sides of the building. Crimson flags, with golden yellow edging and designs of crowns or maple leaves, wave from more than a dozen flagpoles extending horizontally from the roof. A spotlight at night picks out a giant maple leaf at the front of the building.

The Dominion coat of arms has been painted on panels set on either side of the stand's entrance. On the Trafalgar Square side of the house, panels of russet and crimson have been hung. These bear the bliph of the King and Queen in brilliant yellow or green. Window boxes with red and white rhododendrons are placed in each window.

Florence Nightingale Chapter I.O.D.E.—The monthly meeting of the Florence Nightingale Chapter I.O.D.E. was held on Monday afternoon, at headquarters. Mrs. James Baker, the regent, presided and gave a very comprehensive report on the provincial meeting held recently in Vancouver. Mrs. C. Little, convener for the book shower, reported that 200 volumes had been received for the T.B. pavilion at the Jubilee Hospital. The chapter went on record thanking all those who had donated books and made the affair a success. A sum of money was furnished by the chapter to provide uniforms for Girl Guides who were not able to provide the same for themselves. The chapter will hold a Coronation bridge luncheon at the Jubilee Hospital nurses' home, Wednesday, May 26. Mesdames H. Catterall and H. Lenfesty will act as conveners and Mesdames Frank Bayliss and George Mellor will manage the bridge. Mrs. W. F. Warner and Mrs. W. H. Brown were accepted as new members. At the termination of the business meeting, the regent served delicious tea, the table being artistically decorated with a large bowl of pink tulips, lavender stocks and maidenhair fern, the gift of Mrs. W. H. Brown.

Duchess of Gloucester

So unobtrusively do the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester live that they are the least familiar figures of the British royal family. When she does appear in public, however, the Duchess is a glamorous figure, regally furred and jeweled as in this new picture, made in a London theatre lobby. Her brother, Lord William Scott, a former A.D.C. to Lord Byng, was married Wednesday to Lady Rachel Douglas-Home.

Graduates As Guests At Dinner

Members of the 1937 graduating class were guests of honor when the Alumnae Association of the Royal Jubilee Hospital held their annual dinner last night at the Empress Hotel.

Russell, president of the Alumnae, presided, and with her at the head table were Miss Lena Mitchell, Mrs. Thomas Miller, Mrs. Stoddart, who were guests of honor; Miss Noel Fenton and Miss C. Krull, class president of the graduating group, and Mrs. W. H. Bullock-Webster, Mrs. L. S. V. York, Mrs. Alfred Dowell, Miss R. Kirkendale, Mrs. J. H. Fletcher and Miss Donald.

The toast to the King was proposed by Mrs. Russell; that to the graduating class by Miss Kirkendale, with Miss Krull responding. Miss Fenton proposed the toast to the Alumnae, Mrs. Dowell replying; Miss J. J. Herbert proposed the toast to the Alma Mater, and Miss Mitchell responded. The tables were attractively decorated with yellow tulips and dornments. After dinner, a programme was given which was much enjoyed. Miss E. Hood singing two songs, accompanied at the piano by her sister, Miss Edith Hood; Miss Myra Edwards, of the graduating class, gave a tap dance with Miss Hood as accompanist, and an amusing skit by Miss E. Rossiter and Mrs. Bothwell brought the entertainment to a close. About 140 were present.

Ascension Day Service Planned

In commemoration of the Festival of the Ascension a united service of praise and thanksgiving will be held on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at Christ Church Cathedral. The special preacher for the occasion will be Rev. George Barne, Bishop of Lahore.

The hymn "Hail the Day That Sees Him Rise" will be sung as the procession of bishops, clergy and choir enters the cathedral.

During the service of Festal Evensong, the Twenty-fourth Psalm, "The Earth Is the Lord's," Smart's "Magnificat" and Feltton's "Nunc Dimittis" will be sung, followed by the hymns "The Head That Once Was Crowned With Thorns," "Jesus Shall Reign," "Come Ye Faithful, Raise the Anthem" and "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," the latter to "Miles Lane."

"Glorious Things of Thee Are Spoken" (Austria) will be the recessional, as the procession makes its way to the vestries by way of the south ambulatory.

The public is asked to bring hymn books.

Princess To Wear A Coronet

Elizabeth To Have Place At Coronation Rites

London, May 4.—Princess Elizabeth is going to wear a coronet and be attended by a lady-in-waiting for the first time in her life on Coronation Day.

She is looking forward to it as the greatest day she has ever known. The blond little heir-presumptive to the Throne will take no active part in the Westminster Abbey ceremonies May 12 when her father and mother, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, are crowned.

She is to have a new dress and robes, however, and will walk in the Abbey procession of princes and princesses. When the diamond-studded crown is placed on her mother's head, Princess Elizabeth will put on her new coronet as the peeresses will be doing at the same moment.

The coronets for Elizabeth and her sister, six-year-old Princess Margaret Rose, have been made by the crown jeweler who made their mother's new

SEES UNITY IN UNIVERSITIES

Canon Cody Points to Chain Across Canada; Looks to Spread in New Fields

A vision of the universities of Canada spreading outward with time to the service and unification not only of this Dominion but also of all the British nations and of a whole world of sadly perplexed men and women was given to a joint dinner meeting of the men's Canadian Club and university graduates in the Empress Hotel ballroom last night by the Hon. and Rev. Canon Henry John Cody, president of the University of Toronto.

Quoting the university's device, "Velut arbor aevum," he offered a prayer that it should continue to grow "like a tree through the years," outward in its breadth of sympathy and in the range of its service, downward in roots of knowledge and conviction and upward in aspiration, ambition and the search for higher things.

NEED CHAIN OF UNITY
 "There is no stronger chain of unity in Canada than the chain of universities that stretch from Dalhousie in Halifax to your own University of British Columbia in Vancouver. And Canada sorely needs to be bound together. There has been no time that has seen more movements with divisive tendencies than at present. We have to beat geography . . . and hold out hands of understanding and sympathy to become one Canada," he said.

Canon Cody referred to the words of Ezekiel, "I sat where they sat," and gave it as the key by which the universities, through the exchange of ideas and the development in each province of an understanding of the problems and outlooks of all the provinces, enabled the men who made them and the men they made to see things in their universal relationships and united those men in a common understanding.

UNIVERSITY HISTORY
 In the course of his address Dr. Cody traced the history of the universities of the world, of the North American continent and of Canada, then told something of the constitution, achievements and aims of the institution which he headed.

Oldest of all the universities was an organization of teachers and pupils in Cairo. Then in the Middle Ages came the schools of medicine at Salerno, law at Bologna and theology and philosophy in Paris. Oxford, Cambridge and the universities of Scotland followed, some founded by princes, some by Papal bulls.

In the United States Harvard came first, 300 years ago, then the others which like it were founded by religious organizations. After them were born the great state universities dedicated to the provision of higher education to all who sought it.

In Canada the earliest universities were French—Laval, Montreal and Ottawa, classical in conception. The next group were born of the United Empire Loyalist movement. Each was called King's College and there were three, in Nova Scotia, in New Brunswick and in Toronto.

After them, in reaction, came three institutions patterned on Edinburgh University: Dalhousie, McGill and Queen's, with emphasis on learning and scholarship rather than on the Oxford and Cambridge conception of education for life. This group was followed by the denominational colleges, flourishing especially in the Maritimes: St. Francis Xavier, Acadia, Mount Allison, St. Joseph's, Bishops' Trinity, Victoria and McMaster.

FEDERATION PRINCIPLE
 Then, with the development of physical science studies and the consequent cost for material outlays, the federation principle was introduced and developed first at the University of Toronto, where Toronto, Trinity, Queen's, Victoria, Kingston and St. Michael's were joined in a combination rather than an amalgamation, with the colleges still retaining their individuality and teaching the subjects requiring little expensive layout, while the university provided the other subjects.

The last group of Canadian universities, the state institutions, British Columbia, Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan, were modeled very much on this pattern.

Dr. Cody reviewed some of the contributions which his own university had made to the development and conservation of the material resources of the Dominion and to the advancement of astronomy, archaeology, and especially of medicine.

NEW SOCIAL FIELD
 Now the universities were turning to a question which they had too long neglected, he said. "The problems that press on every side are problems of human relations. . . . I think within the broad framework of what we have we must adapt and modify, to solve the social problems presented to governments and individuals. . . . and I believe one of the great steps forward that our universities must take is a fuller recognition of the place of social services."

88th REUNION
 The tenth annual dinner and reunion of the 88th Overseas Battalion will be held in Spencer's dining-room Saturday evening, May 22. AFRAID to Love

CAST OF CHARACTERS
 JOAN BARRETT, heroine, secretary to John Henry.
 JOHN HENRY, mining investment.
 BOB ANDREWS, Henry's junior brother.
 SYBIL HENDRY, socialite, John Henry's niece and Joan's rival in love.
 DOROTHY STRAKE, Joan's childhood friend.
 CHARLES NORTON, California promoter.

Yesterday—Joan refused to marry Bob because of a secret in her life. And Sybil, learning of this, plots to bare that secret.

CHAPTER III
 From the window of her room in the Green Hills Inn, Joan watched the eastern sky brighten to a warm orange as the sun rose slowly above the hills. The streets were quiet now. Every last merry-maker had found his way home; the last echo of shrill horns and cowbells had subsided.

Downstairs, the inn was utterly still. Later on, weary porters would view the havoc wrought by the festivities and attempt to tidy the lounges before early guests appeared for breakfast. But there was time for that. The steep climb had not yet chimed six-thirty. Joan would hear it presently, as she had heard every quarter-hour chime since four-thirty, when Bob had kissed her and wished her happy dreams at the door of her room.

Happy dreams! How easy it was for Bob to suggest that. He did not know how terrible dreams might be. Life to him was all sunshine and love and faith in the goodness of tomorrow. For him there was no ugly yesterday which still conjured in a tired mind nightmares of misery and despair and fear, casting their menacing shadows over every hope for the future, and filling each tomorrow with uncertainty and terror.

Watching the sun climb slowly over the horizon, Joan remembered another sunrise, ten long years before—or was it rather, ten long hideous eternities? Weeks and months and years of dreary yesterdays, which even today stretched out their memories a thousand years into the future.

She had been only thirteen then, but today the picture was as clear in her mind as if it were still happening a thousand times since that first morning. Once more she was back there, standing in the window of another hotel, holding tightly to her mother's icy hand, watching with terror as that same sun slowly rose to light the sun that day had been a flaming ball of fire, creeping up over the hills to rob their lives of all that had made the previous years bright and gay and worthwhile.

It had been in California. The inn from which they watched was close to the forbidding walls of San Quentin Prison. And the sunrise for which they waited in such helpless terror had proclaimed the hour when Thomas Barrett would be "hanged by the neck until dead."

Thomas Barrett—the kindest, dearest father a little girl had ever had—but they had put a rope around his neck and hanged him until he was dead.

Joan and her mother had felt the same rope about their own necks.

Joan loved it. Never before had she been so proud of her reflection in the mirror. Her eyes, accenting the blue of her dress, were sparkling and clear. Even her golden hair, which often flew about in obstinate fashion, fell into graceful, lady-like ringlets, for this special occasion.

It was the first real party she had ever attended. She was radiant with joy. Everybody treated her as if she were a princess. Dorothy's father called her "Goldilocks" and told her she must come to see them often.

At 1 o'clock Mrs. Brown from next door stopped in to see Dorothy out her birthday cake. The Browns had recently moved into the neighborhood. Joan did not know it, but they came from San Francisco. Mrs. Brown's eyes popped as she whispered to Dorothy's mother, and her voice carried across the room to Joan.

"I'm positive of it. My father was on the jury. The Barrett case—but you remember it? He was hanged at San Quentin."

By PETE SALLAWAY

AFTER a year in the east the Canadian senior men's basketball championship is back west. On Saturday night at Vancouver the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds completed a swell job by taking their third game from the Windsor Fords to wind up another national playoff. In winning the title Varsity went into a season that stamps them as a mighty smart ball club. The Thunderbirds engaged in thirteen play-off battles and won eleven of them. They marked up a list of ten straight victories before Windsor won that third game. Included in their list of victims were some of the finest cage squads in Canada.

There has been quite a lot of talk around that the better club lost in the Varsity-Windsor series. The writer is at a loss to understand just how anyone can figure that way. We admit there was only one point difference in the total score for the four battles and that Varsity just managed to win each time, but the fact remains that they won. What more could be asked of them. Varsity may not have boasted the polish that marked the play of the Fords but they certainly had the fight and courage to come from behind. That deserves credit.

Defeat of the Fords more than ever emphasizes just how tough it is for a team to travel across the country and win the series. The Vancouver Province did it a few seasons back but they are one of the few. Three eastern clubs, Assumption College, Windsor-Walkerville and Windsor have come out to the coast and each time they have been sent home the underdogs. Last season the Dominions invaded the eastern lair of the Windsor Fords and took a spanking, three straight. The home club has all the edge.

My good friend (or at least I hope he still is) Stu Keate, golf critic of The Vancouver Province, has kind of taken exception to a bit of criticism I hurled at him over certain remarks he made regarding golf in Victoria. What I was able to accomplish in a few paragraphs he required an entire column. Just another indication of his inexperience, but it at least shows he was ruffled when this writer is worth fifteen inches.

But we still must call Mr. Keate on some of his statements. Despite the former criticism he still makes a first-class job of getting out of line. His writing is just like his putting. He writes that while he was in the nineteenth hole at Oak Bay recently, Ken Lawson informed him he was very definitely through with competitive golf. We took the trouble to question Kenny today and he remarked as follows: "I've heard of Stu Keate. He writes for a Vancouver newspaper, doesn't he? No, I've never talked to him. No, I haven't the vaguest idea of what he knows about golf." Our advice to you, Mr. Keate is to spend less time in that nineteenth hole. That seems to be your downfall when it comes to facts.

In completing his column, friend Keate states he was talking to Teddy Slingsby at Point Grey and the former Victoria long-distance swimmer said he had never heard of the Dominions. Slingsby, when questioned, told me what he said was that he had never seen a basketball game. Just another misstatement, but never mind Stu, we can maybe get things straight when you come over for the B.C. championship at the Uplands.

Leading Boxers And Wrestlers To Seek Titles

Provincial Tournament at Empire Theatre to Attract Large Entry

Entries Will Close Tomorrow

Budding amateur fistic performers and wrestling artists from points all over the province will congregate in Victoria this week to participate in the annual British Columbia boxing and wrestling championship tournament to be staged in the Empire Theatre on Friday and Saturday nights.

The tourney is being sponsored by the Civic Employees' Federation of Greater Victoria. Already entries from a number of mainland clubs have been assured for both wrestling and boxing bouts and quite a number of contenders are expected from up-island centres.

Entries will close tomorrow and should be filed with A. Taylor, entry clerk, City Hall. Contestants must be in good standing and possess amateur cards. There is no entry fee.

Accommodation for visiting performers has been arranged for at the Y.M.C.A. The committee in charge of the championships will pay expenses.

The boxing bouts will be handled by Louis Callan and W. A. Roper. Leighton McMicking, Victoria, will look after the wrestling matches. Judges for the boxing events will be Albion Davies, Captain Edgar, Work Point Baracks, and a Vancouver man yet to be selected. The two wrestling judges have not been named. Dr. A. G. Aylward will be the medical examiner, Harry Stanley, timekeeper, and Sergeant A. Bishop, announcer.

The shows will open nightly at 7 o'clock with wrestling bouts. The committee reports that their plans call for the majority of wrestling matches being staged Friday night, with a few finals for Saturday. Boxing preliminaries will be held Friday night and semi-finals and finals the following night.

For Friday night's show a special section of seats has been set aside for school children.

Holder of two amateur middleweight titles, British Columbia and western Washington, Rex Carey, hard-hitting local youth, will be Victoria's leading contender for provincial boxing honors. Just who will be thrown in against the local ace has not been ascertained but whoever they may be they will find Carey in fine form and a tough man to beat. Since the start of the year Carey has fought fourteen times, eleven in Seattle, two in Portland and one in Victoria. Of these bouts he has lost two.

Bobby Parker, holder of the provincial bantamweight laurels, will also be on hand to defend his title. Jack Patterson has put on a few pounds since he performed in the welterweight and in all probability will be out to vie for the light-heavyweight boxing crown. Billy Knowles, fifteen-year-old youngster, will don the padded mitts to meet lightweight contenders.

The meet includes sixteen events, eight for boxing and a like number for wrestling.

Weights and classes are as follows: Boxing—Flyweight, 112 pounds and under; bantamweight, 118 pounds and under; featherweight, 126 pounds and under; lightweight, 135 pounds and under; welterweight, 147 pounds and under; middleweight, 160 pounds and under; light-heavyweight, 175 pounds and under; heavyweight, over 175 pounds. Wrestling—Flyweight, 118 pounds and under; bantamweight, 123 pounds and under; featherweight, 134 pounds and under; lightweight, 145 pounds and under; welterweight, 158 pounds and under; middleweight, 174 pounds and under; light-heavyweight, 191 pounds and under; heavyweight, over 191 pounds.

Bob Feller Is Ready to Pitch

St. Louis, May 4.—Bob Feller, Cleveland's sensational eighteen-year-old pitcher, will be ready for duty against New York Yankees at Cleveland, Saturday or Sunday, Manager Steve O'Neill of the Indians, said yesterday.

Feller has been taking it easy since April 24, when he pulled a muscle hurling at Cleveland against St. Louis Browns.

Want One More Team For Loop

Teams entered in the Lower Island Softball Association numbered twenty-one, Alf Longley, secretary, reported yesterday evening when entries officially closed. Officials, however, are hoping for at least one more club to enable them to have an even number of each division. A meeting of the executive will be called this week to allot the teams to their various sections and arrange for the opening of the season on Monday, May 10.

VINES BEATS FRED PERRY

Blistering Service of U.S. Star Too Steady For Brilliant Briton

Associated Press
New York, May 4.—Ellsworth Vines and his blistering racket had a full measure of revenge over Fred Perry the dashing Briton today.

Back at Madison Square Garden where Perry trimmed him three sets out of four in their pro tour debut last January before a record house of 17,630 customers, the lanky Californian played one of the most dazzling games of his career last night to trim Perry in straight sets, 7-5, 6-3, 6-3.

Only 6,000 spectators saw Vines triumph but they saw something worth seeing. Off to a slow start and trailing three games to nothing in the initial set, Vines found the range and all but blasted the Britisher off the court with his bullet-like serves. Before it was over Vines had scored twenty clean service aces.

VINES IN LEAD
The victory gave Vines a 29 to 27 edge in matches played over their tour of forty states. The two are billed to play seven or eight more matches before embarking for England, but Vines was in a good spot to go abroad ahead of the ex-British amateur champion.

Two Satch, Japanese professional champion, disappointed in his Madison Square Garden debut, falling before the veteran George Lott in two straight sets, 6-1, 6-1.
Perry and Vines later returned to the court, as doubles partners and won from George Lott and Bruce Barnes, 3-6, 6-2, 15-13.

Eight events are listed on the programme as follows: War canoe race, B.C. championship; hurdle race (single paddle) tip over, double paddle, log rolling contest, second war canoe race (minus first winner) and relay race (single paddle).

Entries for the war canoe race are as follows: Cole Bay, West Saanich, East Saanich, Malahat, Soanens, Klonkilmiltis, Stella Maris, Quinichan, Special, Sechelt, North Vancouver, Point Grey, Nanaimo 1, Nanaimo 2, Chemainus Bay 1, Chemainus Bay 2, Kuper Island 1 and Kuper Island 2.

The Cowichan district band will be in attendance.

A meeting of softball umpires will be held in the Y.M.C.A. Friday evening at 8 o'clock. All interested are asked to attend.

Longworth Is Winner

Tacoma, May 4.—Matching Old Man Par hole for hole, Ted Longworth, Portland, yesterday won the Pacific Northwest Professional Golf Association medal play tournament at the Fircrest Club here and qualified for the national P.G.A. tournament.

Longworth got off to a smashing start, finishing the first nine of the thirty-six hole test in 33, three under par. He lost one point to par on the second nine; finished the third even with the Old Man, then slumped for five straight holes before coming back to win by a single stroke.

Al Zimmerman, also of Portland, matched Longworth's score on the first eighteen, but weakened just enough in the afternoon play to drop into a second place tie with Charles (Chuck) Congdon of Tacoma, defending champion at 143.

Seek B.C. Golf Honors

Before teeing off yesterday afternoon for their match in the Hunting Cup competition Mrs. Peter Trull, Vancouver, left, and Mrs. Hew Paterson, Victoria, were snapped by The Times photographer at the first tee at the Victoria Golf Club. Both players are entries in the British Columbia championship which got under way today.

Victoria Women Win Golf Match

Defeat Vancouver Squad 8 1/2 to 3 1/2 in Annual Hunting Cup Competition at Victoria Golf Club; Mrs. B. R. Philbrick in Fine Victory Over Kay Farrell

Featured by the brilliant 4 and 3 victory of Mrs. B. R. Philbrick over Kay Farrell, Vancouver, holder of the British Columbia championship, Victoria's team of women golfers captured the Hunting Cup at the Victoria Golf Club yesterday afternoon by a point score of 8 1/2 to 3 1/2. Vancouver were defending the trophy they won last year over a mainland course.

The cup engagement acted as a preview to the annual British Columbia women's championship which got under way today with the eighteen-hole qualifying round. Match play will open tomorrow and continue through until Saturday when the thirty-six-hole final is scheduled.

Playing steady golf in the face of a strong wind, Mrs. Philbrick had all her clubs working smoothly. She obtained an early lead to finally end the match on the fifteenth green.

TWO VISITORS WIN
Two lone victories scored by the mainlanders were credited to Miss L. Boyd and Mrs. Frost. The former defeated Mrs. C. Eve and Mrs. Frost accounted for Miss E. Benson. Remainder of the visiting squad's points were obtained in halved matches. Mrs. Irvine finished all square in her match with Mrs. J. Macfarlane; Miss N. Evans finished all even with Peggy Hodgson and Mrs. Baker halved her match with Mrs. H. N. Lay.

Complete scores, with the Vancouver players first named, follow: Miss K. Farrell 0, Mrs. B. R. Philbrick 1.

Miss K. Duff Stuart 0, Mrs. A. Dowell 1.
Miss N. Evans 1/2, Miss P. Hodgson 1/2.
Mrs. P. Trull 0, Mrs. H. Paterson 1.
Mrs. H. R. Wade 0, Mrs. H. C. Bennett 1.

Paul Dean Will Have Operation

St. Louis, May 4.—Paul Dean, ailing Cardinal pitcher, agreed yesterday to undergo an operation for a shoulder injury blamed for trouble with his arm which has prevented him from attaining his former brilliant form.

An X-ray examination has shown a piece of cartilage in the underside of the arm joint has been torn loose.

Mrs. Irvine 1/2, Mrs. J. Macfarlane 1/2.
Miss L. Boyd 1, Mrs. C. Eve 0.
Mrs. Macdonald 0, Mrs. H. G. MacKenzie 1.
Mrs. Baker 1/2, Mrs. H. N. Lay 1/2.
Mrs. Frost 1, Miss E. Benson 0.
Mrs. O. Bowman 0, Mrs. W. N. Sheffield 1.
Mrs. D. B. Manley 0, Mrs. A. Watson 1.

Exhibition Cue Match Tonight

An exhibition billiard match will be played at the Pacific Club tonight at 8 o'clock, between Sam Oakes, Victoria, and Sid Beach, Vancouver. Two first class players, they should put on an interesting performance. The general public is invited to attend.

Victoria Wins Soccer Trophy

Defeating the Mount View High School, 2 to 1, yesterday afternoon, Victoria High School A team captured the prized Colonist soccer trophy. The game was the third played between the two teams for the trophy. The other two games resulted in overtime draws.

The scoring was opened by Victoria High School half way through the first stanza when Ralph Coser shot an unbreakable drive through the goal on a pass from Roy Okell. The play was a beautiful passing combination, originating from the right wing.

Mont View evened the score a few minutes before the rest period when Jimmy Prendergast headed in a foul taken by Johnny Kennedy.

Ten minutes after the whistle had blown for the resumption of play, Roy Okell scored on a foul kick from just outside the penalty area to put Victoria in the lead.
Mount View tried hard to equalize and only skilful work by Victoria defence stopped them from scoring. Williams, Coser and Bishop played well for Victoria, and Kennedy and Moss were outstanding for Mount View.

SCHOOL HOLDS SPORTS DAY

Keen Competition Marks Annual Events at Brentwood College

Brentwood College held its athletic sports day on Saturday with many interested spectators.

After keen competition, R. C. Field won the senior championship and the Victor Ludorum Cup, by winning the shotput with a put of thirty-two feet four and a half inches and the long jump with a leap of seventeen feet five and three-quarters inches, and taking second place in throwing the cricket ball, the quarter mile, the hundred yards, and the steeple chase.

Asseltine was runner-up in the senior championship with three firsts, a second and a third. Ian Ross was third with eleven points. The half-mile resulted in a great race between these two. They ran the last hundred yards practically level at a great pace and finished in a dead heat.

Hoadley Mitchell won the senior hundred yards and the Hope Cup in good time of 10 4-5. Johnston captured the high jump at four feet ten inches.

AUSTRALIA WIN

Australia completed its clean sweep of its first-round Davis Cup series when Jack Bromwich and Adrian Panter won the concluding singles matches Sunday.

Quist dropped the only set lost by the Australians in five matches as he defeated Ricardo Tapia, Mexican ace, 6-2, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3, after Bromwich, getting his first taste of Davis Cup play, had defeated Esteban M. Reyes, 6-2, 6-3, 7-5.

ST. AIDAN'S WIN

A soccer game between St. Aidan's, winners of the Sunday School League, and Duncan senior students, was played at Duncan over the week-end, and the Victoria team won 6 to 2.

Sets Terrific Batting Pace As Tigers Forge Ahead in American League Baseball Race; Beat White Sox 12 to 9; Giants Drop Close One to Boston

The tight-mental attitude is a wonderful thing, as witness the case of Gerald Walker, fast-flying right fielder of the Detroit Tigers and, at the moment, American League batting leader and a front-runner in virtually every department of play.

Gerald was the king-pin of the Tiger attack today as Mickey Cochran and his men opened a home stand against the eastern clubs, led by the world champion New York Yankees. Simultaneously, the Chicago White Sox, Cleveland Indians and St. Louis Browns were entertaining the Philadelphia Athletics, Washington Senators and Boston Red Sox. In the National League, eastern teams played hosts.

Walker had in recent seasons been criticized for headstrong or over-impetuous base-running that robbed him of hits and his mates of scores. Gerald took those cracks to heart, with the result that his game suffered.

IN GREAT FORM

This spring, however, he decided not pay any attention to what he read about himself in the papers. As a result, he's been going like a streak.

He was in there again yesterday while the Tigers took another half-game margin on the second-place Yanks. Though Rookie Pat McLaughlin lasted only three innings in his first starting game, Detroit collected nineteen assorted hits off four assorted White Sox pitchers to win, 12 to 9.

Biggest blow of the afternoon was Hank Greenberg's homer with the bases loaded.

With the Indians and Browns rained out and the other teams unscheduled, the Tigers and White Sox were the only ones active in the junior circuit.

In the National League the four eastern clubs engaged in intramural war while awaiting the arrival of the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates and other westerners.

At Boston, Bill Weir won his first 1937 game for the Bees, 3 to 1, in a pitchers' duel with the New York Giants' Hal Schumacher.

The Brooklyn Dodgers lost to the Phils, 14 to 8, after a Philadelphia parade and five Brooklyn Phils had paraded to and from the scene.

COAST LEAGUE

Rated potential Pacific Coast League baseball champions in preseason dope, the eighth place Mission Reds learned today they would get some much needed pitching help—in June.

The Mission management said Rinaldo "Rugger" Ardizzone, seventeen-year-old San Francisco high school hurler, had made a binding verbal agreement to don a Mission uniform when he is graduated in June. At present he is pitching Commerce High to a prep baseball title. He has won six consecutive games, one of them a no-hit, no-run affair.

In contrast the Missions helped Sacramento-Walter climb from the bottom to the top of the batting averages last week. After setting a 1937 record for consecutive defeats, seven of them at the hands of the Solons, the Reds open against Los Angeles today.

San Francisco entertains San Diego today in a profitable indicator of the north. Seattle goes to Portland and the league-leading Solons remain in the San Francisco Bay region to meet Oakland.

Dominic DiMaggio, youngest of the DiMaggio baseball clan, is making the grade with the San Francisco Seals. Manager Lefty O'Doul says: "He's the best outfielder in the league, and he's getting better with every game."

Kentucky Derby Carded Saturday

Leading Three-year-olds in United States Will Start in Blue Grass Classic; Derby "Trial" Being Held Today Over Mile

Louisville, Ky., May 4.—Lines for Saturday's renewal of the classic Kentucky Derby were drawn more definitely yesterday when the arrival of four eastern hopefuls swelled the prospective starting field to nearly a score of the country's ranking three-year-olds.

Jerome H. Louchim's Pompoon, erstwhile favorite; Marshall Field's Sir Damion, Merry Maker, owned jointly by Willie Shea and Miss E. G. (Happy) Rand, and Walter A. Carter's Clodion arrived.

Melodist, Wood Memorial winner at Jamaica, another of the stretch-running Derby candidates trained by "Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons, was due today. All that are expected to answer the call to boots and saddles before some 75,000 fans Saturday afternoon then will be on hand. Many of the jockeys already are on the scene.

The derby "trial" today will do much to determine the exact field. For the first time in many years, the mile test has attracted several of the leading candidates, headed by Reaping Reward and Military, stars of Mrs. Ethel V. Mars's Milky Way string. Military ran second to William Dupont's Fairy Hill in the Santa Anita Derby but Reaping Reward had not started since winning the Jockey Club Stakes at the Downs last year after whipping Pompoon in the New England Futurity.

The "trial" also will furnish the final public test for No. 10, owned and trained by twenty-three-year-old Mary Hirsch; Fairy Hill and "Varren" Wright's disappointing pair of Galsun and Gosum; J. W. Parrish's Deltor, Mrs. W. H. Furst's Gerald and I. J. Collins's Bernard F.

Sunday's horses have moved up several notches as his number two candidate beat E. R. Bradley's Billionaire and Brooklyn in the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland, Brooklyn since has been withdrawn from the Derby leaving Billionaire as Bradley's lone hope for his fifth victory in the rich stake.

Pigeon Racing

The Victoria Pigeon Club held its first race of the season over the week-end from Seattle, Wash., an airline distance of seventy-five miles. Sixty birds were liberated at 9 a.m. with the following result:

	H. M. S.
J. B. Stewart's The Dandy	1 54 21
W. R. Tall's Busy Bee	1 55 36
J. Bowditch's Shirley	1 57 12
S. Knott's Soranus	1 58 17
R. Margison's Arthur	2 9 1
S. Knott won the pool.

LONDON READY FOR MANY TOASTS

Associated Press
London, May 4.—London is ready to celebrate the Coronation with foam and bubbles.

No fewer than 250,000 extra barrels of beer, by a conservative estimate, will be consumed before the Coronation is over, and the leading hotels have stocked up heavily with champagne, wines and liquors.

The toast to "The King" is going to be drunk from one end of London to the other.

London, May 4.—Reflecting increased business both generally and through the rearmament programme, the number of unemployed in the United Kingdom has dropped sharply from a year ago, according to Labor Department figures issued yesterday.

The report stated unemployed in the United Kingdom at April 19 totaled 1,454,443, a drop of 376,787 compared with the same date in 1936.

SCHMELING IS BACK IN U.S.

German Heavyweight To Get Into Training For Bout With Braddock

New York, May 4.—Max Schmeling came back from Germany yesterday to begin training for a prize fight that may never be held.

Exactly one month from yesterday, the temperamental Teuton is booked to fight James J. Braddock for the world heavyweight title in Madison Square Garden's big bowl in Long Island City.

But while Schmeling goes to Speculator, N.Y., to whip himself into condition, the champion is in the mid-west training for a bout with the brown bombing Joe Louis in Chicago, June 22.

No promotion has been done on either side. Both the Garden and the men back of the Chicago venture are awaiting the ruling of Judge Gay Fike of Newark on the Garden's application for an order restraining Braddock from fighting Louis until he has fulfilled his contract to defend his title first against Schmeling.

"I have a contract with Madison Square Garden to fight Braddock June 2, and I intend to live up to every detail," Max said.

Max weighs 195, only two pounds more than he scaled when he stunned the flaccid world with his smashing defeat of Louis last year.

Max will go to Speculator Thursday. Except for boxing he needs little work to get himself into fighting trim.

Labor Candidates In Ontario Soon

Toronto, May 4.—The Independent Labor Party of Ontario is planning an "intensive campaign" with a view to putting Labor candidates in every Ontario riding at the next provincial general election, according to James Connor, a member of the party executive.

Mr. Connor said yesterday the party planned to support David Croil, former Minister of Labor, and Arthur W. Roebuck, former Attorney-General, in the next election. They both resigned from the Ontario cabinet recently.

British Overseas Funds Estimated

Canadian Press from Havas
London, May 4.—Dr. E. L. Burgin, Board of Trade undersecretary, told the House of Commons yesterday evening British investments overseas are estimated at £3,800,000,000 (£18,734,000,000).

While no official estimate existed, Dr. Burgin said the rough estimate was by Sir Robert Inderley, banker, who listed investments of £530,000,000 in Canada, £540,000,000 in Australia, £150,000,000 in New Zealand, £280,000,000 in South Africa, £440,000,000 in Argentina and the remainder in other countries.

Road Bids Called

The second group of tenders for work on the Dominion-provincial highway construction programme was called by the British Columbia Department of Public Works today.

They are all for work on the lower mainland, covering the following projects: Reconstruction from mile 72.8 to 73.8 on the Rosedale-Cheam section of the Trans-Canada Highway; reconstruction from mile 19 to mile 12 on the Dewdney Trunk Road, raising the roadbed between mile 71 and mile 72 on the Agassiz flats portion of the Lougheed Highway and grading and graveling of the Abbotsford-Clayburn section.

The bids are returnable May 13.

"New Stars" will be the subject of a short address on astronomy to be given by Gordon Shaw over CFCT tonight at 7.15 o'clock.

He criticized the manner in which the health insurance referendum was being placed before the public and considered it an insult to the intelligence of the people.

The finance minister, he said, was no longer a guardian of public funds, but rather a tightrope walker trying to balance the budget.

Mr. Allan's nomination was proposed by Brig.-General J. S. Brown.

HERBERT ANSCOMB

Herbert Anscomb said he had recently traveled to the interior with Dr. Frank Patterson and was greatly encouraged by the party's prospects.

He predicted Conservative victories in Nelson and Trail.

"The present Liberal administration is doomed," he said, saying it would be wiped out like the recent defeat of the Japanese government.

The Liberal administration in the last three months had been one of wanton extravagance. The C.C.F. and Social Constructives stood for Communism and Socialism, he said, adding the Conservative Party offered the only middle course for the people.

Capt. W. E. Tapley proposed Mr. Anscomb.

E. W. MAYNARD

E. W. Maynard said he had observed most of the delegates were working men and women among whom were heads of families. During thirteen years' association with these people through the party he had become aware of their personal problems.

Mr. Maynard was proposed by W. Armstrong.

F. A. WILLIS

Frederick A. Willis said he had received great satisfaction from service already given the Conservative Party, but if the people felt he could render further service he would appreciate it.

"If I go as one of your candidates I shall have no apology to offer," he said. "I am a Conservative by choice and feel definitely that the party has a vital part to play in this community."

He spoke of the "ridiculous cost of government" in this province. "This has got to come down and if I am chosen I shall not hesitate to put before the electors my definite ideas on this subject," he said.

He also endorsed the move for a fair deal for Vancouver Island.

W. H. M. Haldane proposed Mr. Willis's nomination.

WILLIAM WHITE

William White criticized reckless government expenditure, endorsed the move for a fair deal for the island and pledged himself to act in the best interest of Victoria and the party if elected.

Mr. White's proposer was Mrs. L. Shepherd.

R. D. Harvey presided and guests on the platform included Senator G. H. Barnard, Senator R. F. Green, W. H. M. Haldane, R. A. Wootton, president of the B.C. Conservative Association; Mrs. S. R. Bowden, Leslie F. Osborne, Conservative candidate in Saanich; Mrs. M. J. Roberts, F. G. Mulliner and the prospective candidates.

Gordon A. Cameron acted as returning officer.

During the evening Mr. Wootton addressed the meeting on the party prospects in the province. There were now thirty-four Conservative candidates nominated in the province, he said.

Mr. Wootton also read to the audience a modern version of Eugene Field's kindergarten poem, "Wynken, Blynken and Nod," appropriate for a Conservative nominating convention.

The meeting also heard addresses

Portray Early Trading Scene

Twenty-five pupils of South Park School will enact a trading scene on the coast of Britain prior to the coming of the Romans in 55 B.C. as their episode in the historic pageant, "Romance of the British Empire," at the Royal Victoria Theatre on May 10 and 11.

The scene will show the arrival of a Phoenician galley, escorted by native Britons in coracles, and groups of Celtic men and women examining purple cloth, beads and trinkets of the visiting traders. The Britons first keep their tin hidden and offer furs and pottery for the new material, but the traders will have nothing but tin. The characters will be taken by the following pupils: Tug, an inland Briton, Ralph Clarke; Tig, a coastal Briton, Billy Stevenson; other Britons, Jim McLagan, John Moran, Leo Ferguson, Don Collis, Alan Ernest Wilby, Albert Stansfield, Alex. Whyte, Tom McCready, Graham Drew, Sylvia Shel-drick, Betty Girwood, Jessie Pollock, Phyllis Pearce and Margaret Johnston; chief Phoenician trader, Chas. Hemmett; traders' helpers, Garth Bevan-Pritchard, Ernest Ball and Bob Saunders; Phoenician sailors, Norman Allan, Ronnie Hudson, Hubert Brown, Jack Weber.

Antipodes Editor Will Visit City

J. H. Hall, editor in chief of The Dominion, Wellington, New Zealand, publication, will arrive in Victoria on Wednesday.

Mr. Hall will be at the Empress Hotel for a couple of days, when he will leave for a Dominion-wide tour which will take him as far as Montreal. His itinerary calls for a stop-off of a day or two at most of the principal cities of the Dominion, including Vancouver, Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Regina, Winnipeg, Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal.

Bishop of Lahore Arrives in Victoria; Discusses Indian Constitution

Rt. Rev. G. D. Barne, M.A., D.D., C.I.E., O.B.E., V.D., Bishop of Lahore, whose diocese covers the 400,000 square miles of Sind, Baluchistan, Kashmir, the Punjab and the North-West Frontier Province, and has among its residents the viceroys, four generals, the commander-in-chief, two-thirds of the army and all the air force in India, arrived in Victoria this morning by the liner Empress of Japan.

Bishop Barne will spend three days in Victoria, and will preach at Christ Church Cathedral on Ascension Day. From Victoria he will go on a month's speaking tour through Canada, chiefly devoted to telling of the work of the dozen Canadian missionaries in his diocese, then into the United States.

At the Empress Hotel this morning the Bishop inquired for the latest news from India, which he left a few days before the new constitution came into effect.

Of the new Indian independence he said: "The experiment was necessary and inevitable, and most welcome in the present growing pains of India. There will naturally be difficulties, but I hope they will be overcome. In his own province of the Punjab the position was simplified by the fact there was a unionist party in power, and conditions were fairly orderly."

Bishop Barne is interested in the present troubles on the Northwest Frontier. The area where fighting has been taking place between a British expeditionary force and the followers of the Pair of Ind is within the borders of his diocese and is territory whose roads he has traveled extensively.

The bishop is accompanied by his chaplain, Rev. C. R. H. Wilkinson. Although Still Some Danger, Fair Settlement Reached, Chamber Told

While there is still some danger to Victoria in the possibility that shipping lines which have been giving this port a service not really warranted by the volume of business in the hope of future expansion will cease calling here, for 1937 at least, the question of the new scale of harbor dues has been fairly and reasonably settled. J. H. Hamilton told a special meeting of directors of the Chamber of Commerce in the Empress Hotel today.

Mr. Hamilton, who is secretary of the Vancouver Merchants' Exchange and also of the Vancouver Chamber of Shipping, has just returned from Ottawa, where he has been pressing with considerable success the case of the Pacific Coast for a revision of the new scale of charges.

The effect for this year, at least, has been greatly minimized by the fact that the Canada Shipping Act specified that vessels should not pay more than twice in one year, and that many vessels had already made their two payments prior to the new scale coming into effect on April 1, and that the majority trading out of Victoria had paid at least once at the old scale, he said.

Mr. Hamilton reviewed the manner in which the Pacific Coast brief had been presented at Ottawa, the results achieved and the outlook for the future in the matter.

Charges on log booms, which would have crippled the local lumber industry, lay-up charges, bunkering charges and fees on vessels coming here for drydocking had been removed as soon as the effect would be on the industry, and that by their nature the new fees were onerous and discriminatory.

He had been able to convince the minister that the new scale would bring in very nearly twice the amount which the government was seeking to obtain from harbors annually, and as a consequence reductions of considerable size had been obtained in the general fees.

Will be consulted
The assurance had also been given by the government that coast shipping circles would be consulted before any further changes were made, and that if the rates this year brought in more than the sum required by the government there would be a proportional reduction next year.

One anomaly brought out by Mr. Hamilton was the fact that subsidized United States vessels were only required to pay the Zone 1 rate of 1½¢ per ton, while British ships had to pay the Zone 2 rate of 2½¢. This was because Ottawa interpreted "British possessions" as including the "British Atlantic" to exclude the British Isles.

The question of when the Zone 2 rate ended and the Zone 1 rate began for vessels calling at several ports had been established. As a result, vessels such as the Canadian Pacific Empresses now only had to pay 4¢ per ton per annum. The same vessel, calling at Seattle, would have to pay 30¢ per ton in the year.

Mr. Hamilton was introduced by Harold Husband, president of the chamber. Duncan MacBride, vice-president, moved a formal vote of thanks.

The directors decided that the chamber's committee on harbor dues should remain in being and continue to keep in touch with Mr. Hamilton.

CAR DEATH ACCIDENTAL

Coroner's Jury Return Verdict in Case of Edward Lane Devitt

Edward Lane Devitt who died from injuries received when struck by an automobile on the Island Highway, Sunday, was found to have met death by accident by a coroner's jury at an inquest in Sand's Mortuary this morning.

Robert J. Ward, driver of the car, described how he and his wife were driving toward Colwood when they saw a man cross the concrete highway at View Royal.

"The bumper, the right fender, and the spare tire had actually passed him," Mr. Ward said, "when I saw him turn quickly and come toward the car. The car struck him and he struck the car somewhere on the side."

Nelson Douglas Smith, garage man at View Royal identified the body. He also saw the accident and told how he watched the man turn suddenly and walk into the side of the car. He remarked on the slow speed of the car which he said was traveling over not twenty miles an hour.

Provincial Police Constable Gerald Davis who was called to the accident said he found pieces of human hair and skin on the top hinge of the right hand front door of the car.

The accident occurred at 11:30 o'clock in the morning and the man died in the hospital at 7:40 o'clock that evening.

WOMEN'S GOLF SCORES HIGH

Wind Plays Havoc in B.C. Championship at Oak Bay; Mrs. I. South Low

Early finishers in the qualifying round in the women's British Columbia golf championship had their scores skyrocketed by a strong southwest wind which blew over the Oak Bay links at times in gale-like velocity today.

Kiwanians Pay Breakfast Call

Members on Tour of Northwest District Drop in On Local Club

Seventy Kiwanians and their wives, on a flying visit around the Northwest District, paid a breakfast call on the local club at 8 o'clock this morning in the Empress Hotel.

The party, which included members of the Vancouver, North Vancouver, Nanaimo, and New Westminster clubs, left immediately after the bacon and eggs and the speechmaking to catch the boat to Port Angeles. There they made a tour of the city and had lunch, dashing on to Mount Vernon where they met representatives of the Stanwood, Anacortes and Mount Vernon clubs. At Bellingham they will be entertained to dinner and a musical programme, and the day will be topped off when the party reaches New Westminster at 11:30 o'clock tonight where supper and a dance has been prepared for them.

Leo Sweeney, president of the Vancouver club, spoke at the breakfast this morning, pointing out the good will aspect of the tour. He discussed the extent of the Northwest District of Kiwanis and stressed the need for members of different clubs to keep in touch with each other.

W. P. MacDonald, Nanaimo, lieutenant-governor of the Kiwanis district, saw the tour as one of the best things to keep Kiwanians in touch with each other.

Walter Walker, president of the local club, was in the chair. The organizer of the tour and several visitors spoke briefly.

Mr. Walker accompanied the touring Kiwanians on their trip today.

TYPEWRITER WOMEN'S AID

Opened Doors of Business, Says Miss Craig Sketching Its History

The typewriter opened the doors of business to women, Miss Sadie Craig told members of the Credit Granters' Association at their weekly luncheon in Spencer's dining-room this afternoon.

In her talk on the typewriter, Miss Craig gave an interesting account of its history. The first record of a writing machine of any sort was in 1714, when a patent was granted to an Englishman. In 1784 a crude affair was invented for the blind in France. In 1829 the first American patent was taken out, but all records of this were lost.

The first typewriter to be sold on the open market was manufactured by the Remington Firearms Company in 1873. In 1896 H. L. and F. X. Wagner patented a machine which was known as the Underwood and which contained the basic principles of the Underwood of today.

Miss Craig told of the development of the touch system of typewriting and the advent of speed contests. The world's record for typing stood at 155 words a minute, she said.

C. A. Hebben was in the chair. Miss Craig was introduced by J. A. Evenden, who, at the close of the meeting, announced that the next weekly luncheon would take the form of a discussion on the relation between the Credit Granters' Association and the Credit Bureau.

"Caddy" Seen By Local Residents

The advent of summer weather seems to bring about a visit once again of that local monster of the deep, "Caddy" Cadborosaurus.

A quick trip from the region of Gabriola Island, in the Gulf of Georgia, where he was seen a few days ago by a tugboat crew, brought "Caddy" on Sunday to the straits where he was sighted off the new Jordan River road by Mr. and Mrs. G. Meynell, Miss D. Meynell and Mrs. Claude Belcher, who were driving along the waterfront.

Mrs. Belcher said the head and part of the body appeared out of the water about 200 yards from shore. She said the huge serpent resembled a glorified green garter snake. It caused quite a commotion when it broke the surface and appeared only for a minute.

All occupants of the car had no doubt as to the fact it was "Caddy."

Tarzan's Quest

Slowly the Waziri recovered consciousness and found themselves prisoners. "I know these Buhena," Murri sighed; "they will kill us and eat our hearts. We Waziri do not fear death, but it is dreadful to die now when the Big Bwana counts on our help!"

... Meanwhile, swiftly through the jungle night, the Big Bwana bore Yaka, daughter of Guplana, whom he had saved from the Kavaru. The frightened girl marveled at his ability to travel so surely and so bravely through the darkness. He must be a demon!

"Who are you?" she asked in quivering voice. "I am the man your father saved, from Udale." "Then you, too, are a Kavaru." "No, I am Tarzan of the Apes, from the land of the Waziri. Tell your people I saved you from the Kavaru, and they must be my friends."

Next day they came to the edge of the clearing that enclosed her village. Tarzan sat her down and turned back once more to the forest. If only he had known that in that village ten of his beloved Waziri were imprisoned, awaiting horrible death...

Answer: Mrs. Carlyle, after a like experience with Tammas, advised girls not to marry a genius. I should say the same thing goes for most scientists. Such men are more interested in their work than they ever are in a woman. They can't be dragged away from their books or their test tubes or their digging to go to parties; or remember their wives' birthdays, be on time for dinner, or to do any of the little human everyday things that makes a husband easy to live with.

Stanley's Adventures in Africa

II—DANGER FROM SAVAGES

Marching ahead during the month of February, 1875, Stanley and his party reached the country called Usukuma. It was an upland region, rich in food supply. In return for cloth and trinkets, the natives gave the travelers grain, beans, herbs, honey, goat-meat and other things to eat.

After three days of feasting, the men went onward. Each day they covered an average distance of about ten miles. At last they came to the shore of Victoria Nyanza, the largest lake in Africa. This great body of water covers 26,000 square miles. Its size is greater than that of Lake Michigan, but it is not so large as Lake Superior.

Stanley wanted to explore the lake, so he had his men put the boat, Lady Alice, together. Leaving most of the party behind he boarded the little vessel with eleven natives as companions. The boat was a kind which could be propelled by oars, as well as by the sail.

For several weeks the Lady Alice was sailed hither and yon about the lake. Stops were made on islands, and at native villages on the shore. At one village, bananas, beef and chickens were obtained.

March passed, and April was almost gone when the party reached a cove in a good-sized island. Though they did not know it, this island was the home of a band of savages, warlike and unfriendly. When the boat was a few yards from shore, about 200 black men came rushing down a slope. In their hands they held bows and arrows, clubs and spears.

Rushing right into the water, some of the savages caught hold of the boat. Others raised their spears as though to strike those on board, but before starting a fight, they waited for an order from their chief.

The chief was Shekka, the so-called "king of Bumburah." He forced his men to draw back. Then he told the visitors that they must stay overnight and ordered some of his followers to drag the boat up on the beach. This was done, and the Bumburah natives also seized the oars and carried them away.

The next event was a "shauri," a kind of pow-wow which the black folk of this region were in the custom of holding. The savage warriors had all walked away to attend their shauri, when a few women came to Stanley and told him his party would be doomed to death.

The white leader whispered to his men. They gathered together and pushed the boat with all their strength. Out into the water it went, and all least aboard.

Meanwhile, the savages saw what was happening. With wild yells, they came rushing to the shore. Stanley shouted to his men to take up the floor boards, and use them for paddles.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—We are three girls who have no trouble in attracting boys, but we don't know how to hold them and keep them interested after we get them.

Answer: It is always easier to get a man than it is to keep him. Perhaps because men are roamers by nature and are always seeking novelty, fresh faces and a different line of attractions even in women. Perhaps it is because so many girls put all of their charms in their show windows and after a man has looked these over he is on his way. They have no reserve stock with which to hold his interest.

A girls may have a pretty face, but if she is dull and tiresome, a man gets tired of looking at her. She may have a keen line and be a wise-cracker, but if she monopolizes all of the conversation he gets tired of listening to her. She may be a peach of a dancer, but if she is never willing to stay put of an evening he drops her because there are times when he is on his way. They have no reserve stock with which to hold his interest.

When his feet hurt and he is tired and he doesn't want to be dragged around a dance floor.

So you see, it takes more than one thing to hold a man. You just can't flag him down and call it a day. You have to keep on the job.

Of course, nobody can give you a hard and fast rule for holding a boy after you have caught him, but I should say that always and under all circumstances with any man a woman's best bet is femininity. Look like a girl. Dress like a girl. Act like a girl. If you dress like a boy and tell dirty stories and drink and swear, plenty of boys will take you out a time or two when they go on rough parties, but they won't be the kind who will come back and some day ask you to share a white cottage with green blinds with them.

Adaptability is another winning play for a girl to make. Men like girls who fall in with their moods, who are willing to step out if they want to go, or sit at home and turn on the radio. They like girls who are equally willing to talk or listen, who will lend an ear to the boy who is a monologist, or who will chatter like a magpie to the boy who can never think of anything to say himself.

Men like girls who are simple and natural and who don't put on any airs. No boy comes back a second time to see a girl who makes him feel cheap and as if he was not in the society class to which she pretends to belong. Many a girl never has any dates because she is so overdone she makes a lad feel that he couldn't ask her to ride in his filly or to have a ham sandwich and go to the movies with him.

Men like girls who have mercy on their pocketbooks; girls who don't demand to be taken to the most expensive places to dance, who suggest going on the street cars instead of taxicabs, who can eat enough before they leave home to last until they get back and who don't have but one birthday a year.

Men like girls who are pleased at their attentions, but who don't gush and gurgie with gratitude for being taken to the movies. It shows they are not used to men's attention and men like other men's O.K. on a girl. Men like girls who let them do the love-making. They want to be the hunter instead of the hunted. It scares them blue when a girl takes a proprietary air and seems to think that she is engaged because she has been taken out to dinner.

And, finally, men hate and loathe the girl who has the telephone habit and who calls them up in business hours, thereby risking their jobs. Nor can they stand the girl who hounds them over the phone to come and see her and wants to know why they haven't been around.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—My husband and I adopted a little boy when he was two weeks old. We think the world of him and do all in our power to bring him up right and make him happy. Lately some of the other children have been making him miserable by taunting him about being an adopted child. He came home from school crying and asked me what an adopted kid meant. I had intended telling him when he was old enough to understand it, but now I don't know what to do. Please tell me.

Answer: It is a great mistake not to tell adopted children that they are adopted before they are old enough to really understand what it means. In that way they grow up accustomed to the idea and it is no shock to them to be told that their foster parents are not their real father and mother.

By telling the children the truth about their relationship to those who have adopted them you can provide them with a weapon to use against the other children. I know one adopted boy who turns the table on his tormentors when they throw his parentage in his face by boasting of his adoption. "Your father and mother had to take you whether they liked you or not, because they wanted you," he hurls in the teeth of the other kids, "but my father and mother shopped all around and looked over all the babies until they found just what they wanted and that was me."

The best you can do now is to put this same idea in your little boy's mind and do your best to make him feel that there is nothing to be ashamed of in being adopted and that you love him all the more because he was a gift to you.

DEAR MISS DIX—I fell in love with an archaeologist who came to visit my father and we became engaged. Then he went away on a trip from which he has just returned. He seems like a different man. His facial appearance has not changed noticeably, but he acts almost inhuman. He says he loves me, but I can see that he is more interested in unearthing ancient things than in me. He wants to marry immediately and go back to Egypt, where I can help him as a sort of a secretary. We would be there until we died and I could not stand it. What shall I do?

Answer: Mrs. Carlyle, after a like experience with Tammas, advised girls not to marry a genius. I should say the same thing goes for most scientists. Such men are more interested in their work than they ever are in a woman. They can't be dragged away from their books or their test tubes or their digging to go to parties; or remember their wives' birthdays, be on time for dinner, or to do any of the little human everyday things that makes a husband easy to live with.
